FOR HONORABLE PEACE

Influential Germans Advocate
Peace Proposals Acceptable to Members of Entente

AMSTERDAM, via London, Aug. 23. 6.06 a. m.—At the secret conference of cabinet ministers, political leaders and influential writers, called by the German imperial chancellor before the re-assembling of the reichstag last Thursday to discuss the political situation, the Telegram says that Karl Helfferich, secretary of the treasury explained that the new German war loan would completely exhaust the empire's financial resources and that the increase in exchange bonds would cause bankruptcy. Therefore, Dr. Helfferich urged, it was needful to prepare for an honorable peace.

Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg, according to the same report, declared that the difficulties of the empire were increasing and advised his hearers to use their influence to soften down policy incursions and expansion policy in the reichstag and the country and carefully to prepare for peace proposals which would be acceptable to the four members of the entente.

Dr. Bernhard Dernburg's report of the failure of his mission in the United States and other neutral countries, the Telegram says made a strong impression on the conference.

Lieut. Gen. Count Von Moltke, former chief of the general staff, declared that he fully agreed with the chancellor and added that those not fully informed on the situation could hope for the possibility of complete Russian defeat.

Despite these declarations, the story concludes, the meeting refused to adopt a resolution advocating moderation in the reichstag, whereupon the chancellor declared that if a majority in the reichstag should show an irreconcilable chauvinistic attitude he would be obliged to resign, as he could not accept responsibility for Germany's disaster.

12 PERISHED IN FLOOD FOUND DEAD IN BED

ST. LOUIS COUNTY RECOVERING
FROM FLOOD—2000 FAMILIES ARE
HOMELESS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 23.—St. Louis county was recovering today from the third flood which has descended upon this community in as many days—a flood that cost 12 lives, possibly many more, destroyed more than a million dollars' worth of property and made 2000 families homeless. Almost a hundred persons are listed as missing. River men fear that the falling of the Meramec river today may disclose a heavy toll in human lives.

Equally distressing conditions prevail throughout southeastern Missouri and parts of western Illinois, where the toll, less severe in the number of lives lost, is far greater in damage to property and crops.

CHILD SCALDED

William Farley, one year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Farley of 11 Apple street, was badly scalded this morning at the home of the parents. The little boy grabbed a pan of boiling water from the stove and the contents were spilled on his back. Roland Stevenson, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Stevenson of 11 South Wilder street was probably fatally injured this morning when he was struck by an electric car at the corner of Stevens and Westchester streets. It is feared the boy is suffering from a fracture of the skull.

As far as could be learned the little fellow attempted to cross Stevens street in front of an out-bound Highland car shortly before 11:30 o'clock, when the fender struck him, inflicting a deep scalp wound. The boy was rushed to the Lowell hospital, where it is feared he will not recover. The car was in charge of Motorist Fred McCormick and Conductor McDermott.

RUSSIAN, BRITISH AND FRENCH FLEETS ACTIVE11 German Warships Sunk in Gulf
of Riga—German Submarine Sunk
Off Ostend by the French—Turkish
Collier and German Levant Line
Steamer Sent to Bottom by British

LONDON, Aug. 23, 12.17 p. m.—The capitals of the entente allies are jubilant today over the unexpected naval victory which the Russians, according to their accounts, have won in the Gulf of Riga. England had more than a sympathetic interest in the battle as a British submarine accounted for the German battle cruiser Moltke, the loss of which, added to the destruction of two cruisers, eight torpedo boats and four transports, constitutes the greatest naval disaster suffered by Germany during the war.

For the last week both Petrograd and Berlin have been sending meager reports of naval operations in the Gulf of Riga, which were interpreted to mean that Germany was attempting to land forces for the purpose of supporting the left flank of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg in his efforts to overrun the whole of Courland and thereby establish his armies along the coast route to the Russian capital.

Decisive Victory

The official Russian report, claiming a decisive victory for the allies, together with the expulsion of the surviving units of the German naval forces from the gulf contains few details in addition to an enumeration of German losses. It is assumed that, inasmuch as Petrograd announced several days ago that her large warships had retired from the gulf, the mosquito flotilla, assisted by submarines and land defenses, wrecked unexpected destruction on a part of the convoying German fleet and transports.

The moral effect of the action on the Russian people is expected in London to be great, as it probably will do much to allay the depression incident to the continued Russian retreat which has not yet led, so far as is known, to the northern sector, from Riga to Kovno.

British military critics regard the Baltic advance of the Germans as of really important importance. If the invaders really contemplate marching on Petrograd, on that account the Russian naval victory may be of large effect on the German plans.

Italy's declaration of war on Turkey has not yet led, so far as is known here, to definite results, but it is expected to have a great effect on Rumania, which long has been connected closely with Italy.

From the Franco-Belgian front comes reports of artillery duels, unaccompanied by infantry activity.

JOINT MILITARY ACTION BY ITALY WITH ENGLAND,
FRANCE AND RUSSIA

UDINE, Italy, Aug. 23, via Paris, 11.30 a. m.—The fact is now disclosed that joint military action by Italy with England, France and Russia against Turkey, was arranged by the Italian General Piro during his visit to the Anglo-French front in July. Plans studied then, it is said, can immediately be put into action.

TWO JITNEYS CRASH

ACCIDENT NEAR KENWOOD PUT
BOTH OUT OF COMMISSION—NO
BODY SERIOUSLY INJURED

A jitney automobile accident, which fortunately did not have any serious result, occurred on the Lawrence road and some 20 or 25 people had a very narrow escape from serious injury. Both machines, however, were badly damaged. The occupants of the cars were on their way to work and they were forced to have recourse to the electric to complete their journey.

The automobiles were of the three-seat jitney type. One is the property of Joseph Lemelin, 182 Lowell street.

Lawrence, while the other is owned by C. A. Folger & Co. of 293 Northampton street, Boston. Each car contained between 10 and 12 passengers.

The machines were headed for Lowell and were being driven abreast at a fair rate of speed. When at a spot between Elmsmere and Kenwood on the state highway shortly after 6 o'clock, an automobile owned by Friend Bros. was met.

The Folger car in order to avoid a collision with Friend Bros' machine, was driven a little to the right and in so doing one of the rear tires suffered a blow-out, the tire and rim rolling into the road. The driver lost control of his machine and the big car was about to crash into the embankment on the side of the road, when the Lemelin auto, which could not be brought to a full stop, hit the machine on the side, turning it completely around.

There was almost a panic among the passengers of both cars, which counted a number of women and many children. The passengers of the Folger car were prevented from doing so by cool-headed passengers. The two cars were finally brought to a full stop before any of the passengers were thrown out. The passengers alighted and boarded electric cars for Lowell. The two jitneys were left on the road, both being badly damaged. The other cars' radiator was badly smashed, while the brakes were also put out of commission.

The following people are going to stop at the Ivalco cottage, Salisbury beach: Miss Mary and the late Clark Agnes, Duff, Helen Tully, Ethel and Ruth Paul, Theresa Riley, Mary Hanley, Mary Sullivan, Mary McNamara and Elizabeth Lowrey.

Hardest Work
Made Easiest

Most every housewife will admit that washing is the hardest of the home duties.

It is also generally conceded by all who use the electric washing machine that it has made this work the easiest.

The electrical way there is practically no work at all—just dump in clothes, water and washing compound and turn the button.

GEORGE P. GREEN DEAD

WELL KNOWN BUSINESS MAN
PASSED AWAY AT HIS HOME
LAST EVENING

The many friends of Geo. P. Green, one of Lowell's best known business men, will be deeply pained to learn of his death which occurred quite unexpectedly at his home, 353 Walker st., last night, after an illness of only a few days. He complained of not feeling well on Thursday and went to his home and his illness speedily took on a critical aspect. It was due to acute intestinal trouble.

Mr. Green was a native of Lowell and since leaving school had been identified with the plumbing business. For many years he was accountant for the plumbing firm of Farrell & Conant and afterward entered business on his own account as a member of the firm of Drury & Green. Subsequently, the partnership was dissolved and Mr. Green continued in business with a shop in Middle street. He was a member of the Vesper Country club, the Knights of Columbus, and was president of the Holy Name society of St. Margaret's parish, having been deeply interested in the affairs of the Highlands parish since its establishment. Before marriage he resided on South street with his mother, who passed away many years ago. He is survived by a widow who was Miss Nellie Lynch, four children, Heland, George, Elleen and Elizabeth. He was widely known and universally respected and his death will be deeply mourned by a large circle of friends and business acquaintances. A notice of the funeral appears in another column.

FILTRATION PLANT SUIT

CITY SUED FOR INFRINGING ON PATENTS—PLAINTIFFS' PETITION GRANTED IN MINNEAPOLIS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 23.—Holding that the city of Minneapolis in the construction of its $1,000,000 municipal filtration plant has infringed on two of the patent rights of Ira H. Jewell of Chicago, Judge Wilbur F. Booth of the federal district court has handed down a decision granting the plaintiff's petition for a permanent injunction restraining the city of Minneapolis from operating the filtration plant and ordering an accounting in damages and for the plaintiff's costs and disbursements in the litigation which began two and a half years ago. Two alternatives are possible. The city may change the entire system of its plant. If this is not done the city may pay royalties to Mr. Jewell. The Minneapolis council has consulted a number of water engineers and patent attorneys before deciding to build the plant, despite the protests of Mr. Jewell. The two patents which are held to have been infringed are the "filter bottom" and the "control system," the latter regulating the amount of water delivered and the washing system. About four months were required to collect the testimony and five days were spent in arguing the case. The record in the case was more than 2000 printed pages, and the court had the case under advisement for about thirteen months. Minneapolis is said to have spent approximately $30,000 in fighting the suit. The restraining order did not go into immediate effect owing to the hardship that would be produced by the lack of water to the city, who is handling the case for the city, has announced that he would appeal to the United States circuit court of appeals.

LADY LOOKABOUT

Everyone who goes to the country in summer, of who takes country walks, should know the poison ivy. Its color as the season advances, ranges from a light spring green, to a deep glossy green. The leaves grow in clusters of three, which is its most distinguishing feature. It may be seen by the roadside almost anywhere, climbing by rootlets over rocks and ascending trees. At the present time, clusters of small green berries may be seen growing from the axils of the leaves. Later, these berries as they ripen turn a grayish white. The plant is most noxious in the spring. Some persons are extremely susceptible to its poison, often becoming infected by merely passing it by when the wind is blowing over it. Others may handle it with impunity. It causes a most painful swelling and irritation to the skin, and although its traces gradually disappear, in some cases it has been known to be recurrent. It is a vile pest, and while I am not one of the young ladies who settled themselves comfortably in the midst of a bed of it for a quiet chat while visiting at a nearby summer camp, with results almost tragic, I would gladly lend my assistance to a movement inaugurated to rid our country roadsides of its presence.

Refuse to be or to do anything or anyone. I should love to see Mrs. Pankhurst on him.

Reforming Criminals

To those of us who are following the investigation into the methods of Katharine Bennett Davis in her management of a New York prison, her reasons for withholding newspapers from the criminals under her charge, make a strong appeal. She says that when she considers the type of men she is trying to assist, men extremely susceptible to temptation of all kinds, many having employed the utmost violence to accomplish their purpose, she feels that she is doing them an injustice when she places in their hands newspaper accounts of crimes in which the most minute details of the means employed to execute those crimes are given. She refers in particular to the descriptions given in full of the manufacture of bombs used by fanatics with imaginary grievances. Often these bombs are used to deadly purpose, as their makers intended, and it is indeed unfair to the criminally inclined to put in their possession the details of manufacture. This is only one example. Any of us could cite instances where the power of suggestion has accomplished good or evil, for everyone is susceptible to suggestion. It is a well known fact that one child suffering from St. Vitus' dance in a schoolroom will cause many others to imitate his motions; one cough in church starts a chain of coughing; and it frequently has been noted that when much publicity has been given to the methods employed by a suicide for his own cutting off, a little wave of similar methods of suicide sweeps the country, particularly if the methods be at all unique. It may be difficult for many of us who have never felt an impulse to commit crime to put ourselves in sympathy with Miss Davis when she withholds newspapers from the inmates of her prison, but from the point of view of those who have in mind the ultimate good of those inmates, her contention is worthy of support.

Woman Suffrage

President Wilson has promised to the citizens of New Jersey, his home state a public expression of his position in the matter of woman suffrage. His statement is to be given in October, just prior to the state election, and, needless to say, it will carry great weight throughout the country, as it should. At the present moment, he holds as never before the confidence of the entire people, and we may be sure that his position in the matter of suffrage is the result of deep study and much thought, biased only by his firm conviction of what is the greatest good for the greatest number. At the same time, I have always felt that his opinion expressed before both houses of congress during the session just closed, when the advocates of the measure attempted to settle the question by enfranchising the women of the country by constitutional amendment, in which he stated that he considered it matter to be settled by the states individually, did much to influence legislation against the movement. The negro was enfranchised by amendment to the federal constitution, although his residence was confined practically to the southern states. His enfranchisement was considered a question of national moment. The American woman, however, must fight her way to political equality step by step, suffering rebuff after rebuff, through the general courts of forty-eight states. When we consider that she is the mother, the wife, the sweetheart, the daughter of the very men who are compelling her to make this hard struggle, who refuse to see in her a political equal, can you consider us unfair when we charge discrimination? Listen to us with open minds, give us a square deal, and we will do the rest.

Old Time Sea Tragedies

The harrowing details of the torpedoing of another trans-Atlantic liner, fills us of the present generation with unspeakable horror, but to those of an older generation now rapidly passing, they serve to revive old recollections of other tragedies of the sea. The oldest neighbor sat on the veranda one day last week, luxuriating in the penetrating heat which had the rest of us nearly prostrated. His mind traveled back through the centuries, back past steel-clad, floating palaces, beyond twin propellers and the many other adjuncts of steam travel, back to the days of wooden hulks and canvas sails, to hard tack and scant water. With him we endured a trip of four months from Queenstown to Castle Garden, and with him we endured a three months' quarantine for ships' fever in New York harbor. I laid away over we stood with him, a lad of ten with his little brothers and sisters, about the body of the poor mother who had succumbed to the fever leaving her five babies alone in mid-ocean. With him, we looked curiously at the unrecognized figure, secure in its canvas wrapping, a bag of sand tied to its feet, to float on a plank, which supported by two sturdy seamen, rested on the gunwale. With him we heard the droning voice of the captain reading the burial service, and like the little lad we failed to realize the full significance of the proceeding until we, too, heard a splash in the water below. For a moment the mother's body bobbed up and down on the waves, then obedient to the bag of sand attached to the feet, sank. A few bubbles, a little heart-rending cry of "Mamma! Mamma!" from the eldest sister who stood with her baby brother in her arms, and all was over. The orphans turned their eyes westward to this Land of Promise, and the old wooden vessel with its flapping sails proceeded on its way. The experience was not unusual and in those days excited only the most casual comment. When those hardy pioneers set out for the new world they knew that many feared to survive the trip, yet they fearlessly undertook it in the pursuit of that happiness which is every man's birthright, but which they failed to find in the homeland.

Kipling's Latest

In a review I have just read of Mr. Kipling's latest story, "Mary Postgate," the author is considered. It expresses the true Englishman's ideal of woman's mission on earth when he makes his heroine exclaim, "Woman's place is to be and to do." Does it not sound like something an Englishman would say? It is such a solid remark. There is nothing subtle there. Yet its true significance eludes me. What is she to be, and what (or whom) is she to do? Is it not baffling? Yet he has settled to his own satisfaction, the problem of ages. I never can forgive Mr. Kipling for calling us "a rag, a bone, and a hank of hair," and although he partially retrieved himself in his "Mother," the hurt of the former always shall remain, and for that reason I for one

ATTACKED WHILE ASLEEP

YOUNG BRADBURY MURDEROUSLY ASSAULTED WHILE ASLEEP IN TENT

GILDTOWN, Me., Aug. 23.—Sharlard W. Bradbury, aged 18, son of Ex-Mayor Dr. Arthur J. Bradbury, was murderously assaulted about midnight Saturday night while asleep in a tent on the lawn at his home on Brunswick street. He was struck three heavy blows on the head with a cobblestone, inflicting deep and severe cuts, and last night his condition was considered dangerous. His father, who is a well known and respected citizen, was awakened by the sound of his son's cries and rushed to his aid. He found his son lying on the ground, his head bleeding profusely. He called for help and the neighbors came to the scene. The police were called and the tent was searched. A cobblestone was found near the tent. The father is now in the hospital, and the son is being treated by a surgeon. The police are investigating the case.

FOUR KINDS OF BOMBS

"Hair Brush," the "Cricket Ball," the "Policeman's Club" and the "Jam Tin" Used
LONDON, Aug. 23.—The various kinds of home-made bombs being used in France and Flanders are described by an English officer in a letter from the front. They are, he says, four main types, the "hair brush," the "cricket ball," the "policeman's club" and the "jam tin."

THE FRENCH MAID SAYS:

Marjorie Gets a Bath
"Father brought me home a parrot that a friend of his brought all the way from South America. Just for me," exclaimed Marjorie. Then doubtfully: "Just what does one do to train a parrot, Marie?"
"I am not just sure myself," answered Marie smiling. "It is rather out of my line. However, I do know that such birds as parrots may often be kept occupied and amused after showing signs of a restless mood, by giving them some small object to play with a piece of stick or chopstick, or anything which might serve as a toy will do; but care should be taken that they are not offered anything which might prove injurious if swallowed, especially if the surroundings are unfamiliar. One of the troubles of the feathered creature under these conditions being the terror it feels on seeing new things and from which it cannot escape. For this reason a bird is always more contented in cage life if there are others with it or near it, even though they are not of its own species."
"That instinct which leads birds to keep in flocks as much as possible, is probably owing to the feeling that in numbers there is safety, or safety comparatively, and the fear of unknown objects, and the fear of recognized dangers, is thereby lessened."

WILLIAMS WENT GOOD OPENING-GAMES SEPT. 4

LOWELL TOOK EARLY LEAD AND HELD IT AGAINST FITCHBURG

Howard Williams, otherwise called "Cy," was in fine form in Saturday's game and at no time did Fitchburg look at all formidable. On the other hand Lowell took so kindly to Moulton when the latter succeeded in hitting them over that Manager McNeane wisely took him out, substituting Press who did fairly well. A large gathering of fans saw Lowell take its eighth victory in 10 games but the contest was so one-sided that there was little of an exciting nature. Munn and Deo were the battling stars of the occasion. Young Uncle Munn getting a hit each time up while Shorty's hits were there when men were on bases.

Moulton was the fielding star, pulling off a catch of a foul fly in right field, running in between Swayne and Dunn to get it that was a corker and made the fans stand up and cheer.

Manager Kelchner was much in evidence on the coach lines and as usual made a big hit with the crowd.

Manager McNeane appeared to be short-handed, having only 10 men with him, not including a somewhat overgrown mascot in a Fitchburg uniform who might have been counted in as a player in a pinch.

LAWRENCE MFG. 11; HURLEY, 1

The Lawrence Mfg. Co. nine defeated the J. J. Hurley aggregation of Lawrence in a game played Saturday afternoon at the Aiken street grounds with a large gathering in attendance, the final score standing 11 to 1. Abrams, the local pitcher, twirled a no-hit game and his work was the big feature of the contest.

The manager of the Lisbons would like to know if the amateur teams of Lowell are afraid of his team. The Lisbons have been playing ball out of Lowell most all this season and would like to hear from the C. M. A. C., Calets, Glendales, Maples, Bucks, Mysteries, for a game to be played at Lincoln park, Saturday, Aug. 28. Send all challenges to D. Silva, 17 Elm street.

The Guilbaults defeated the Victorians Saturday afternoon by the score of 12 to 2. The pitching trio of Gervais, Guilbault's southpaw, was a feature.

LOWELL DRIVING CLUB

IT WILL HAVE A PARADE FOR MEMBERS AND THEIR FRIENDS—WILL START FROM ARMORY

The Lowell Driving Club is going to pull off something quite novel in Lowell this week in the form of a parade in which the club members and their friends will take part. The event is scheduled for Saturday evening and will be well advertised in order to attract people from out of town. There is no telling how many horses will be in line, but the matinee favorites will be numbered and their names and numbers will appear in the papers so that they can be readily distinguished. The parade will leave the armory in Westford street at 7:30 o'clock and will take in the white way. The route of the parade will be from Westford to Nichols street, to Middlesex, to Central, to Prescott, to Merrimack, to Alken, to Moody, to Merrimack, to Central, to Middlesex, to Thordike and back to the armory. The parade will be headed by the Sixth Regiment band.

DIAMOND DAZZLES

Nothing doing at Spalding park until Friday when Lynn comes here. Manchester will play a double-header on Saturday.

That five game lead of Lynn doesn't look impossible considering the way Lowell is going.

Two weeks from today the New England league season will close and it's a good short-end bet that Lowell will get into the first division by that time despite the lead that Lynn now has on us.

Way out in Oakland Cal., they want Alito Moulton, and they may draft him. Moulton since his return to the Lowell team has been putting up class a baseball and the team that gets him will get a good one.

Lowell plays Worcester today and tomorrow and in all probability that protested game will be played off with tomorrow's regular game.

Shorty Dee may go up into faster company this fall. Shorty has shown a big improvement under Manager Kelchner's tutoring and his playing these days both at bat and in the field is all that could be desired.

Five players in the New England league have made 100 hits or over. Chick Farrell of the Portland team leads with 110 to his credit. Van Hise is second with 111. Barrows with 110 and Clemens and Porter have bado 100 each. Several of the players are hovering around the 100 mark.

Perhaps our local semi-pro pitchers weren't going some on Saturday. Abrams of the Lawrence Mfg. team pitched a no-hit game. Smith, with the Graniteville team gave three hits and fanned 15, while Allen of the Woodbines allowed six hits and struck out 14.

Frank L. Bruggay, the Troy, N. Y. catcher who was taken south by the Boston Braves last spring, has received word from President Gaffney, ordering him to report to the world's champions at the close of the New York state league season. Bruggay is at his home in Elizabeth, N. J., recovering from a fracture of the right leg, suffered several weeks ago, but he expects to rejoin the Troy club shortly and hopes to be able to show something like his best gait when he goes back to the Boston club.

Probably many a fan has overlooked the fact that our old friend Jake Morse, former ace of the New England league is a democratic candidate for state auditor, backed by the democratic club committee. In an interview with the Boston Globe, Jake said recently: "If I knew as much about politics as I do about baseball there'd be nothing to it." Never mind Jake, get the nomination and the fans of both parties will do the rest. If you are going to vote the democratic ticket for state officers, don't forget your old friend Jake.

Joe Burns of the Portland team is the leading run getter of the New England league, but he has but a very small margin over his teammate, Pete Clemens. Burns has scored 72 runs, while Clemens has scored the same 71 times. Gardella of the Worcester team is another big run getter. He has scored 54, while Chick Farrell of the Portland team has scored 60. Sweatt of the Portland team leads in sacrifice hits with 19. He has taken the lead away from O'Connell of the Lawrence team. Burns is second with 15. Recker of Lewiston has 37 and Orcutt of Lynn 35.

The drafting period of the majors starts Sept. 15 as the rule is as follows: Sec. 6 (Article 6) "The right of a minor league club to its player or under the agreement shall be absolute except that from Sept. 15 to Sept. 20 of each year each major league shall have the privilege of selecting players from the national association clubs for the following season upon payment of the following sums: $2500 for each player selected from Class A; $1500 for each player selected from Class B; $1000 for each player selected from Class C; $750 for each player selected from Class D; $500 for each player selected from Class E."

Says a New York despatch: Tim Jordan of the Bronx, who used to be a star of the Chicago Cubs, is about 40 days of old Washington park, is about and looking for work. Tim started out the season as a member of the Toronto Maple Leafs. Later he was loaned to Jack Dunn's Richmond team, with which he felled a while as guard-lan of the faithful sack.

When Jack Dunn secured Mullen from the Yankees he gave Jordan back to the Toronto club, and the Toronto club, having no use for a first sacker at the time, gave Tim his unconditional release.

Not so many years ago Tim Jordan was flogging the ball all over the N. E. league circuit as first baseman of Doc Collins' famous Nashua team with such teammates as Ashurach, Van Zant, Tony Pastor, Larry McLean, Gus Soffel and Garry Wilson. From Nashua he went to the big show, at Brooklyn.

Returning to the Braves at this time, Bruggay goes back an experienced player in three positions. He is a sterling catcher, has seen a season's service in the outfield, and at the time of his recent accident was playing a great game at first base, which job he had been taking care of almost from the start of the season.

The time for New England league clubs to sell players has expired as the rule in regard to the purchase of players is as follows: Sec. 7 (Article 6) The sale or the release of a player by a minor league club within 20 days of the commencement of or during the drafting period of 20 days or within 20 days of the close of the season of the club disposing of the player is prohibited." The New England league closes Monday, Sept. 6, and 20 days before that time is Tuesday, Aug. 17, so that no players can now be sold by New England league clubs unless permission is given.

White has been playing good ball since he joined Lowell. It's surprising that Lawrence didn't get wise to his presence in that city. White has been playing in the south where he had been playing in the South Atlantic League. He came back to Lawrence and went to work for the Stanley Grain Company. In that city where Manager Kelchner located him a week ago. On the same day that Kelchner dug up White he also discovered another first class third sacker named Glennon who at present is spending the summer at Hyannis. He sent word to both of them to come. White got here first and has been doing satisfactory work ever since. Uncle Munn, another Southerner has been doing the best work on first base that Lowell has had this season. Munn's services could not have been secured any earlier this season as he was under contract with the Nacoo, Georgia, team until the close of the South Atlantic season. At the time Kelchner secured Munn Hugh Duffy got Martin who is now pitching for Portland as both players were with Marion.

Lynn Telegram.—The reason that Curle Barrows, Jake Warner and Chick Farrell are the only 300 hitters in the New England league is because of the wonderful pitching and the corresponding scarcity of base knocks as a result.

Look at the pitchers in this league. Portland—Doc More, Ray Jordan, Martin, Voss, Mayberry and Watkins, anyone of them needing but one or two runs to win.

Lawrence—Soldier Boy Faltor, Harry Thompson, Jack Barron, Pearson, Sel-

Worcester—Dennis Van Dyke and Daniels two star performers.
Lynn—Carl Williams, Dick McCabe, Steve Jewett, Bill Martin and Dedrick, better than Lynn has had for years, and one of the best in the league.
Lewiston—Oscar Tuero, Otto Rettig, Whittaker and Schwartz. Tuero has pitched several no-hit games and these men are hard to beat.
Manchester—Frank Horsey, Bugs Smith, two good pitchers of more than passing merit.
Lowell—Zeke Lohman, Paddy Green and Matt Zieser, three pitchers who have proven effective. Green and Lohman defeated Lawrence in a double-header.
Fitchburg—Kid Pennington, Dickie Durning, Tom Tuckey and Mulrenan, not a bad start for a talented club. Pennington is wanted by big league clubs.

OFFERS $1000 REWARD

WONG QUON THINKS WONG THICK WAS MURDERED—DOESN'T BELIEVE SUICIDE THEORY

Wong Quon of the Chin Lee restaurant offers $1000 reward for any evidence of foul play in connection with the alleged suicide of Wong Thick at his laundry on Gormham street Saturday morning.

Wong Quon accuses nobody in particular, but he insists that the young man was murdered and that the suicide theory is false. He says Wong Thick was as cheerful, merry and happy as any young man could be. He had kept in close touch with him and knew just how he was feeling. He was a youth of cheerful disposition and had no reason whatever to be sad or depressed.

There is no woman in the case in the opinion of Wong Quon and actually no cause why the young man should end his life as he did.

Wong Quon accuses nobody in particular, but he insists that the offer of a reward may bring to light some facts to prove that Thick's death resulted from foul play. So far as can be learned no suspicion rests upon the man who was first to find Thick dying, moreover the police have no clue whatever to justify an assumption of foul play. Still Wong Quon thinks there is foul play and offers a reward stating for evidence to support that theory.

POLICE COURT CASES

MAN LOOKED AS IF HE HAD ASSAULTED OFFICER—FISHERMEN FINED—OTHER CASES

When Tony Rodriguez appeared before Judge Pickman at this morning's session of the police court, he looked as though he had assaulted a police officer, for he had a deep gash on the top of his head, while one of his eyes was badly discolored. Tony had several numerous abrasions about the face and many thought the complaint against him was assault upon an officer, but such was not the case, however, for Tony with a companion named John Pringer were complained of for drunkenness and disturbing the stillness of the night in Bradford street.

The two men were placed under arrest by Special Officer Ashman of the Tremont & Suffolk mill, whose attention was called to a house in Bradford street, where some sort of jollification was going on. The police found that the guests were numerous, while in the center of the floor were some kegs of beer and all were imbibing freely. Tony and John seemed to be in charge and they attempted to prove to the officer that they were the main guys in the house, with the result that both were taken to the police house. It seems that Tony lost his footing while going down a flight of stairs and that accounts for his many bruises. Both men denied their guilt of drunkenness, but after hearing the evidence Judge Pickman found them guilty and ordered Tony to pay a $4 fine, while John was fined $3.

Fish Warden Busy

Mike Sanuta and Peter Blonzi were fishing Saturday and just because they were not familiar with the fish and game laws, they were fined $1 each this morning, the charge against them being that of having in their possession a white perch measuring less than 7 inches and a black bass measuring less than 8 inches.

The men were fishing in Lake Massachusett on Saturday afternoon when they were visited by Fish and Game Warden Elmer H. Houghton and his assistant, James A. Peck. The men inquired as to the fishing, the two fishermen cheerfully showed them their catch which consisted of some twenty yellow perch, a white perch and a black bass, the latter within the required length. The fish warden then disclosed his identity and escorted the two men to the station. When their case was called in court they admitted their guilt and the above fine was imposed after Mr. Houghton informed the court he wished to be lenient with the men for they were ignorant of the law. Mr. Houghton said he would like to inform the court that he will have a number of fishermen behind the bars before a great while. He said there is a common infraction of the fish laws and the state is bound to put an end to it.

John J. Hanson, a young man living in this city went to Lakeview yesterday and after partaking of a good feed at the pavilion restaurant refused to pay. Officer Canney was summoned and the young man reiterated his statement that he would not pay and emphasized by using a few profane words with the result that he was sent to the station. This morning he was charged with profanity and denied his guilt, but the testimony of several witnesses was enough to convince the court that the accusation was well founded and John J. was taxed $2 with the understanding that he keep away from the summer station.

Two drunken offenders were fined $5, another was sent to the state farm and a fourth was given a suspended sentence of three months to the common jail.

ANOTHER AUTO MISHAP

INTOXICATED DRIVER CRASHED INTO POLE AT BELLE GROVE—DANGEROUS JOY RIDES

That there is altogether too much fast and reckless riding in automobiles on the river road between Lawrence and Lowell is evidenced by the number of accidents that have been reported within the last two or three weeks, and it is understood that the selection of the towns will be asked to do something about it. Last year, it seems, there were two policemen stationed at Belle Grove and this year there is only one stationed there. It is too big a territory for one man and the joy riders do not pay much attention to him. A great deal of the trouble, it is alleged, is due to intoxicated men at the wheel and persons who have witnessed the reckless manner in which automobiles are operated, presume bad accidents before the season is over.

There were several near accidents on Sunday and at least one party came to grief at Belle Grove. Two young men riding in a roadster smashed into a pole opposite the Sanders store after running over the lawn where passengers wait for electric cars. It was said that the man at the wheel was intoxicated. The machine struck the pole with sufficient force to bend it and the engine was put out of commission. The machine belonged to Methuen and was towed there after the accident by a machine from the Red Tavern garage in Methuen. Neither of the young men was hurt.

GOVERNORS NOT COMING

BOARD OF TRADE COULD NOT ENTERTAIN THEM ON TWENTY-FOUR HOURS' NOTICE

Secretary John B. Murphy of the Lowell board of trade is in receipt of a letter from the governor's secretary, Thomas H. Connelly, to the effect that Gov. Walsh will let the organization know Friday whether or not the visiting governors in Boston will be able to come to Lowell Saturday.

Mr. Murphy replied to the letter this morning by informing His Excellency that the Lowell board of trade will be unable to successfully entertain the delegation on 24 hours' notice. The letter also states that the Lowell board of trade was the first organization to extend an invitation to the visiting governors and inasmuch as the invitation was not placed on the official program the board must decline the opportunity to entertain the governors on so short a notice.

President Robert F. Marden and Secretary Murphy have received personal invitations to attend the reception to be tendered the visiting governors at the Hall of Flags on Thursday. Among other Lowell men who are in receipt of similar invitations are Rep. Henry Achen and J. H. Pelneault, who were in the governor's party on the exposition trip.

MEXICANS RELEASED

Charges of Conspiracy Against El Guero and Rodrigo de Llano, Former Newspaper Editors

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Aug. 23.—Charges of conspiracy to violate the neutrality laws of the United States filed against El Guero and Rodrigo de Llano, former editors of newspapers in the city of Mexico, were today dismissed by United States attorneys.

El Guero and de Llano were arrested July 3, the day General Huerta was re-arrested in El Paso for the second time. Special agents for the department of justice believed that the newspaper men were connected with the alleged conspiracy to return Huerta to power in Mexico.

GUERRILLA WARFARE

General Villa Mobilizing His Forces at Torreon for an Attack on General Obregon

EL PASO, Texas, Aug. 23.—Arrivals from northern Mexico today declared Gen. Villa is mobilizing his forces at Torreon, preparatory to a guerrilla warfare against Gen. Obregon. Sixty pieces of artillery have been parked at Santa Clara and San Rosario, many miles to the north of Torreon, as a reserve. Gen. Villa is said to have 20,000 men, including the expeditionary force arrived recently from the south.

It is said Gen. Felipe Angeles, now in southern Sonora, is endeavoring to induce southern Yaquis to attack Gen. P. E. Calles, Carranza commander. In that state with a view to relieving pressure against Gov. Maytorena at Nogales.

The report that Gen. Rodolfo Pizarro, Canuto Reyes, Roque Gonzalez Carza and Gen. Handeras of Zapata's force led the Villa expeditionary force into Torreon is confirmed. The force, however, was said to number only 13,000 men.

A report of the hospital service at Chihuahua shows that 7140 wounded were received between March and July. The mortality was seventy-eight. 1867 being discharged and 1868 remaining. Wounded received by discharged permitted from hospitals at Torreon and elsewhere, making a total of more than 12,000 wounded treated since March 1.

BATTLE NEAR MONTEREY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Consular dispatches from Utreras Negras today report a battle at Leon, near Monterey, between Carranza troops and combined forces of Villa, Hernandez and Madero. Carranza Government Has Purchased 500,000 Barrels of Flour From the United States

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 23.—The Carranza government has purchased 500,000 barrels of flour in the United States to be shipped to Mexico City to relieve the food shortage, according to a cablegram received from Vera Cruz. This is in addition to more than $100,000 worth of flour shipped to Vera Cruz during the last few weeks, it was said.

The dispatch, which was signed by Gen. Carranza, declared that Gen. Pablo Gonzalez in command of the Carranza troops in Mexico City, was doing all in his power to relieve the food situation.

THE S. S. ARABIC, SUNK BY SUBMARINE, AND RECENT VIEWS ON HER DECK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The White Star liner Arabic, of 15,801 tons, torpedoed by an unseen German submarine while sixty-five miles off Fastnet light on her way to New York, may complicate still further our relations with Germany, according to the general opinion here. Four hundred and twenty-three persons were on board—181 passengers and 242 crew. She sank in ten minutes. From the most accurate information available there were at least twenty-five Americans aboard. The White Star offices in London state that twenty-five American passengers sailed, and in Liverpool it is reported that there were some Americans in the crew. The Arabic was torpedoed without warning, according to the White Star officials. She was struck on the starboard side, about 100 feet from the stern. One torpedo did the work. Fortunately for those on board the weather was fair and the sea calm. But the item which counted for most in saving so many of the passengers was the splendid teamwork and efficiency of the crew, which managed to load sixteen lifeboats and lower them safely before the steamer sank.

FRANK DID NOT CONFESS

Death Facts Revealed—Tried to Lynch Frank "Legally"—Held Deed Sacred Duty

ATLANTA, Aug. 23.—The first actual story of all that took place on the death ride of Leo M. Frank from Marietta to Marietta between midnight and dawn last Tuesday morning, became available to the Associated Press yesterday. The recital came in a manner which seemingly placed its authenticity beyond all question. The narrator, however, will not be a witness before the Cobb County grand jury which on Sept. 7 will be asked to undertake a thorough investigation of the lynching of the man alleged to have been the slayer of little Mary Phagan. It also became known yesterday that Gov. Nat E. Harris during the past few days has received several anonymous threatening letters purporting to warn him not to go "too far" in his investigation of the lynching. The governor is not inclined to take the letters seriously.

The inside story of the events which preceded the flogging of Frank's lifeless body away from the limb of the big oak tree cleared up many phases of the tragic incident which heretofore have been veiled in mystery. Points asserted by the narrator were:

First—Frank did not confess. He twice was asked if he had anything to say, but on each occasion replied "No." Asked pointedly if he killed the Phagan girl, he is said to have made no reply whatever.

Second—No attempt was made to force a confession. Frank's statement, just prior to his death, that he loved his wife and mother better than he did his life, came unexpectedly and without questioning.

Third—Frank was not maltreated in any way prior to the actual lynching. Stories that he may have met violent death before he was hanged from the Grey oak are without foundation.

Fourth—Frank walked 20 yards from the automobile to the death tree without a faltering step; without a sigh or remembrance of a protest. Fear, perhaps, that his body might never reach his relatives, he asked that the wedding ring he wore be delivered to a newspaperman with the solemn promise that it would be turned over to his wife. This wish was carried out.

Fifth—Frank was told from the start that he was to be executed as the courts had directed that he be, and every effort was made by the so-called "vigilance committee" to see that the "legal hanging" as they termed it, was carried out in an orderly manner.

Members of the "vigilance committee" are said to resent any intimation that Frank was "maltreated" while in their custody. They assert he was given exactly the same consideration usually given to a condemned man on the day of his execution. The rough handling of the body after it was cut down was a matter concerning which the members of the "committee" felt they were not responsible.

Sixth—The members of the "vigilance committee" felt they had a sacred duty to perform in "carrying out the mandate of the courts of the state and of the United States." There was no mob spirit, no demonstration, and there is said to have been no idea of hanging Frank in the public square of Marietta or in the cemetery where Mary Phagan lies buried. There was, however, a determination that the execution should take place in Cobb county. Inasmuch as all the members of the "committee" are said to be residents of Cobb county, the reason for this is obvious.

Seventh—Automobiles were required to transport the "vigilance committee" from Marietta to Milledgeville. Only four returned, including the car in which Frank rode. All the machines were cars of a popular make. These cars were specially selected because of difficulty in identifying them. No car of conspicuous design or color was wanted. There were probably 25 men in the lynching party.

SALOON HOLDUP

Gunman in Broadway Saloon—Drove Out Clerks and Patrons

One of the most daring holdups heard of in this city for a long time occurred Saturday evening in a Broadway saloon, when a man armed with a rifle walked into the place, drove everyone to cover, put the lights out with a gun shot and slowly filled himself with the best liquor in the shop, sampling all the better grades on tap. This happened shortly before 11 o'clock and the place entered was the liquor shop of the place. The man entered the saloon with a rifle over his shoulder and ordered everyone to stop. The matter was at first taken as a joke and in order to show that he meant business, the man with the rifle fired a shot at the lights placing the saloon in total darkness.

There was a hurried rush for the door on the part of the many customers while the clerks in charge of the establishment ducked under the counter. The gunman then slowly and methodically fired a shot at each of a number of clerks. Later he went out without leaving his name and the police are now searching for him. He did not attempt to take any money. It was stated this morning that the police have a clew which will soon lead to the arrest of the highway man.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

D. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
"Mars Covington," a wonderfully interesting story of the Southland, with Edward Connelly starring, will be the feature attraction of the Keith's theatre. The play is in five acts and more than 300 scenes and is classed as one of the stellar outputs by the new and ambitious distributor, the Keith-Martin picture company. It is taken from the book and stage play of the same name and is from the pen of the brilliant author, George Ade. Southern atmosphere and environment adds greatly to the general enjoyment of the production, while the interpretation of the several characters conveys as true to the life of the South as it is possible to be. Mr. Connelly, appearing as "Covington Halliday," a true southern gentleman, has but one fault, that of gambling, which is seen at his best in the support cast is genuinely good. Real action—the kind that invariably goes to make a screen production acceptable—is seen in the support cast. The intense and interesting emotional phases of the piece are a contributing feature to the offering. Coming from the studio of the B. A. Reitz company, which is responsible for such well-known picture successes as "The Right of Way," "The Heart of a Painted Woman," "The Shooting of Dan," "The Girl in the Red Velvet," and "The Girl in the Red Velvet," this most recent production should share with the rest in giving satisfaction to patrons of the high-class presentations. The picture is a masterpiece of the kind that will be five other pictures, all of the same high standard, and of sufficient variety to satisfy the most fastidious. MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The opening performance of the famous Players Film company's new photo play, "Helen of the North," just released on the Paramount program will be seen at the Merrimack Square theatre this afternoon and evening with the charming, beautiful, and popular Clara Bow in the lead. This absorbing play has a most unusual and original theme. The first scene is that of a drawing room in which there is a fashionable society of people, some of whom are telling the most interesting of their own personal experiences. Helen is asked to tell her story and she does so in a way that tells them which so holds their rapt attention, is unfolded in brilliantly acted pictures before the eyes of the audience. She brings them to the sirocco winds of the great Canadian woods where she lived through her first and only romance. She tells them how she loved a man who was a half-breed and how a half-breed came between them, making the realization of their love impossible. Just before he was sent away on a secret mission, she was married and she never saw him from that time. The play leads up to a grand climax just at this point, one of the most powerful ever portrayed upon a motion picture screen. The fifth episode of "Who Pays?" entitled "The Pomp of the Earth" is an interesting number which will be enjoyed during the next three days. It will be shown in three acts. The latest happening in the entire world will be seen in the Pathe News which will also be shown. A screening of World comedy concludes the performance for the first half of this week.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

Lowell people today have an opportunity for the first time of seeing Miss Irene Fenwick, the sprightly New York star, in "The Spendthrift," which will be produced at the Academy of Music three days, with matinees.

"The Spendthrift" gives opportunity for some very interesting action, and the display of many beautiful gowns, for it presents New York society life, portrayed upon a motion picture screen. Miss Fenwick, portraying the extravagant Frances Ward, who has absolutely no conception of money's value and who through her extravagance brings on a lot of trouble for her family, plays a one-act comedy of money-worship. Mrs. Ward knows no limit in the matter of dress extravagance, and the gowns she wears in the natural course of the story, are bewilderingly beautiful and tell better than words her tendencies.

Miss Fenwick is supported by a company that includes Cyril Kneightley, Miss Ferguson and Malcolm Duncan. In addition to "The Spendthrift" will be seen "The Riddle of the Rings," a Kaleidoscope.

The Academy of Music is thoroughly renovated and the stage settings have been entirely changed. The screen is well back of the presentment, offering a perfect perspective to those who hold front seats, as well as to those occupying seats more remote.

The management will maintain the policy adopted last season, the best and only the best, regardless of cost.

CANOBIE LAKE PARK
Another big banner bill of vaudeville with five feature acts opens at Canobie Lake Park theatre today and will remain for the balance of the week.

Mark Linder and company in a program dramatic sketch entitled "The Water," is a good example of the quality of acts that the Canobie management is offering its patrons this year. There are five artists in the company headed by the celebrated Mark Linder who interprets the comic characters during the running of the unusual act.

The LeGrange-Gordon Four in a big spectacular musical offering with special stage settings and effects, is another of the splendid offerings of the bill. These four clever musicians specialize on xylophones and render some of the most beautiful harmony in their music.

The Mexican Hermans present an act of magic and illusion that is quite the most unusual that has been seen in vaudeville for a long time. Joe Case, the international comedian in new and snappy songs and stories is also offered. To a large number of people, however, the engagement of Miss Anna Leary of Lowell, will be a most interesting feature of the program. In a number of pretty songs and dances Miss Leary is expected to win a host of new friends during her engagement. Recently Miss Leary was engaged to appear in a feature motion picture production introducing one of her many dancing conceptions, the film of which will soon be shown throughout this country entitled "Wistaria."

"POP HOP" AT STANLEY'S

A "Pop Hop"—Something new in the way of entertainment will be the attraction at Stanley's on the Merrimack tonight. James F. O'Leary, B. J. Keaveny and Harold Proctor will assist in providing a program of music, and besides there will be dancing all evening. The price of admission will be 25 cents for men and 15 for ladies, with dancing free all evening. You are invited to this offer. If you do you will throw away a grand opportunity for an evening's enjoyment. On Thursday night Manager Carney has engaged an extra expert, four star baritone performer from the Palm Gardens, Nantasket beach. Stanley's is one of the best pleasure spots in the state, where there is dancing every afternoon and evening. The place has many features not found at any of the other resorts. The price of admission is 25 cents for the many enjoyable features. Try it once.

LAKEVIEW PARK

The bicycle bugs is the way that Reid & Alma style themselves and they present a novel and unique feature bicycle act which will be the free attraction at Lakeview park for the week commencing Aug. 23. Miss Alma is a handsome and statuesque young woman who is an expert on the wheel as well as a clever juggler while her partner, Gus Reid is one of the best bicycle performers in the country. They wear handsome costumes and perform many difficult tricks on the wheel. Reid and Alma have just finished a two weeks' engagement at Parkview park as a special feature attraction, and will appear at Lakeview every afternoon and evening the week of Aug. 23. At the theatre there will be the usual moving picture program, pictures that are shown in Lowell for the first time. The program at the theatre changes every Monday, Thursday and Sunday. It will be of great interest to those who ride bicycles to see Reid and Alma in action.

OWL THEATRE

A play of mystery and romance is offered as the leading attraction at the Owl theatre for today and tomorrow. Lionel Barrymore, the actual star in "The Romance of Elaine," who is a member of the famous Barrymore family of actors, will be starting in the leading role of "The Curious Conduct of Judge Legarde," as the dual Judge Legarde. The story is from the pen of Victor Mapes, a noted dramatist and writer. Judge Legarde is kicked in the head by his horse and his mind is unbalanced. One evening, while his sweethearts is playing Schumann, he undergoes a wonderful transformation. Disfigured, unrecognizable, he rushes to the "Lame Duck," a famous rendezvous of the worst element in the city. There, he becomes a leader of the gang of the most desperate criminals in the city. His present state of mind all he cares for is to murder, rob and commit acts of violence. He is transformed to his better self. The phenomenon is discovered later on by his prospective father-in-law, who engages a noted specialist to effect a cure of the unfortunate Judge. Careful nursing and still more careful scientific doctoring restore him to his good former self. A delightful transformation is the sequel of this peculiar transformation, and the mind of the judge is restored to its normal state. The complete performance for today and tomorrow, Charles Chaplin will also be starred in a Keystone comedy. When in doubt, the Owl will always settle the doubt of the best pictures in Lowell.

POLICE MAKE 39TH RAID

EIGHT SUNDAY VISITS IN QUEST OF ILLEGALLY SOLD LIQUOR MADE BY BROCKTON POLICE

BROCKTON, Aug. 23.—The police conducted eight more raids yesterday, making 39 since last Sunday, the largest in one week in the history of the city. The liquor inspectors claim they are going to make a clean sweep from Montello to Campello and expect to keep up the crusade for weeks, if necessary.

The raids yesterday included one at the house of Charles Wolfe, 115 School street, where inspectors Allen and Long found one pint of ale. The same inspectors also raided a store conducted by Wolfe at 111 School St., and found 10 gallons of ale and 70 empty ale bottles, and also a store conducted by Wolfe and Isaac Sargman, where they seized one quart of whiskey. Other raids were as follows:

Inspectors Chase and Grace and Patrolman Sullivan, premises of Lewis Zelnicki, 151 Ames street, one gallon of ale; inspectors, premises of persons; unknown, 23 Porter avenue, two gallons of ale; inspectors Allen and Long, premises of Nathan Speckin, 185 Crescent street, one gallon of whiskey. Two raids were unsuccessful.

HE DESERTED TWO WIVES

ALLEGED THAT BROCKTON MAN HAS TWO FAMILIES—MAY BRING BIGAMY CHARGE

BROCKTON, Aug. 23.—The discovery by Police Inspector O. A. Saunders of this city that the George Furlong he saw in the Dauphin county jail, Pennsylvania, charged with non-support of a wife and child in that state, is the man who deserted a wife and six children in this city three years ago, has caused a sensation here. His first wife, who has lived here since he deserted her, has had a pretty hard time of it.

There seems to be no doubt about the identity of Furlong, for his father, who lives on East Ashland street, received a photograph of her husband from the second wife, of her husband and the 21 months' old baby, and samples of his writings. At the time Mrs. Furlong No. 2 was trying to establish her husband's identity after he deserted her. She lives in Lykens, Pa., near Harrisburg, where she married Furlong about three months after he deserted his first wife. The inquiries of wife No. 2 came to the knowledge of wife No. 1 and to the police. So, as Inspector Saunders was going to Harrisburg, he was asked to look up Furlong, he identified him and it is probable that a charge of bigamy will be brought against the latter.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

Lowell Herd No. 10, Benevolent Order of Buffaloes, held a regular well attended meeting in Odd Fellows building, Middlesex street, with President Frank A. Crossley in the chair.

The organization committee gave a very interesting report and Dr. J. C. Sawyer, chairman of the committee, feels sure that fifty new members will be taken in during the next two months.

The outing committee has arranged plans to bring the other herds of the order to Lowell and have a state round-up in the near future. Gloucester, Beverly, Weymouth, Malden, Quincy and Lynn have all signified their intention of being here to participate in the outing which will be held in the near future.

During the evening a ball committee was appointed with Mr. F. T. Mussey chairman to take care of the ball and the general opinion is that it will be held much earlier than last year.

Supreme Justice James E. Hughes of the local bar gave a very interesting report of his recent trip to Boston in attending a Supreme executive board meeting and his remarks indicated that the supreme body is about to start an organizing campaign that will surpass anything ever attempted before by the order.

The very efficient relief committee made a pleasing report as did also Treasurer W. W. Murphy.

On the good and welfare of the order remarks were made by William M. Dempsey, James Buckley, Robert Barber and W. W. Murphy.

At the close of the meeting an instrumental and vocal program was given under the direction of Pianist J. Edward Leith and it was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

GEORGIA'S EXCUSE

The condemnation of the Georgia mob which has been voiced by practically every other state in the country has called forth some apologies and explanations which reveal the Georgia state of mind. This state of mind is very different from that of the north, but one cannot correctly understand the reason for the popular hysteria against Frank without taking it into account.

In this first place, Georgia seems to have the mistaken notion that it is more solicitous for the honor of women than other states. Southern chivalry has been made a fetish until the ignorant part of the public takes it upon itself to avenge anything that looks like an affront to woman—when the woman is white. Wrongs against colored women, and at the hands of white men, do not arouse any degree of virtuous indignation. The Georgia mob decided that only the death of Frank would avenge the crime attributed to him, and no other punishment would serve to cool the aroused southern blood.

Again there is great hostility to outside interference, or what looks like interference. With true southern pride, Georgia considers itself humiliated by any attempt at dictation from other states. This spirit manifested itself strongly in opposition to Detective Burns and his agents who it now appears were threatened with death, when they sought to prove Frank's innocence. The entire south contends that they are misunderstood by the north, and they often complain of laws made by congress which, they say, injure the true interests of southern states. Prejudice has been fostered so long as to be an inborn trait of the unthinking classes.

In the Frank case, the feeling that the Jews of the country were working for Frank's release and that Governor Slaton was determined from the first to pardon him, operated to his doom. This accounts for the ghoulish satisfaction which broke out when the fury of the mob was satiated. It also accounts for the fact that though many leading men of Georgia strive to palliate public opinion, the Georgia rabble glories in its shame. Where there is passion and prejudice there is neither justice nor judgment.

THE MILK STANDARD

As the result of activity on the part of the local milk inspector and his assistant, thirteen local milk dealers will appear before the court in a short time, six on the charge of having watered milk in their possession and the other seven on the charge of having milk below the standard. Many of those to be prosecuted are not producers of milk and only act as agents, selling milk secured from other sections.

The local milk inspectors are to be congratulated for their active interest in their work as demonstrated by this condition, but it should be ascertained if possible whether the alleged infractions of the law are deliberate or unavoidable. Complaints from milk dealers are heard all over the state, many declaring that with the unfavorable weather conditions it is next to impossible to keep milk quite up to the standard.

The heavy rainfall of the past months has made grazing bad, from the point of view of the milk producer, and without proper food for cattle, milk will be poor. It may be, therefore, that much of the watered condition of the milk is due to natural causes, and with such weather as we have had it is hardly fair to insist on the letter of hard and fast rules. When we have a poor farming year, vegetables, fruit, etc., are not quite up to the standard, and the people accept it philosophically; when milk is below the standard, we insist on prosecutions, though the dealer may be innocent of any deliberate intent to defraud or to take unfair advantage of the consumer.

Where dealers deliberately water milk, or sell milk that is needlessly inferior, they should be prosecuted, as nothing is more important to the public health than a pure milk supply. We should not, however, make it so hard for the milk producer or dealer to profit by his industry that the milk business of Massachusetts shall deteriorate further. Governor Walsh in a recent veto showed that much agitation against milk dealers was unwelcome; let us prosecute by all means when prosecution is desirable, but let us not persecute.

WHY THE CENSORSHIP?

One can well understand why the British censor should cut out details of military engagements, lists of dead on battlefields, location of ships and troops, etc., but what was the reason for the strict censorship exercised over the reports of the loss of the Arabic? Eventually all the main facts will leak out and nothing is to be gained by postponing revelations. The very fact of the censorship engenders suspicion and operates against the English attitude. According to the story of Captain Fitch, the liner was sunk when going to the aid of the Dunsley, and no warning was given. The government of this country cannot take action until the German side of the story is heard, and nothing is to be gained by strict censorship on either side. It now looks as though Germany has no justification for the act, but if the facts as ultimately reported change the original aspect of the case, the reaction will be all the greater because of the censorship which the British government exercised.

Incidentally, it may be added that the censorship methods of England have been persistently criticised there since the war started, and it has often been stated by press and public that it was injurious rather than the contrary. English reverses have been concealed, and the loss of ships has been admitted only when it could be no longer kept from the public. The English public knew nothing about the shortage of ammunition until it was stated in parliament, and while frantic efforts were being made for recruits, the English papers were recounting great British victories and predicting an optimistic outlook. When so much criticism of the censorship is heard in England, we may be pardoned for some curiosity as to why it was exercised so strongly in the case of the Arabic. It may be that the English government is not wholly blameless.

WHAT WAS GAINED?

It is very hard for the ordinary observer to see what Germany has gained by the sinking of the Arabic, while it is very easy to see grave possibilities that might prove the outrage to have been a colossal blunder, even from the German point of view. At the time of the attack the liner was purely a passenger ship, engaged in legitimate trade; no ammunition was aboard and the cargo was not one that would benefit England to any extent. To be sure, a great liner—out of a group competing with German lines—was put out of commission, but so far as the actual conduct of war is concerned, there was no advantage in sending her to the bottom. Even though it must be admitted that the Arabic would be a freight ship on the return trip, laden with munitions of war, Germany could have waited until a more propitious time before launching the fatal torpedo. This is apparently realized in Berlin as shown by the conservatism with which the incident is referred to, and the request that the German papers refrain from commenting on it for the present.

While Germany appears contemptuous and indifferent to the attitude of this country, it is scarcely to be believed that it would deliberately invite war with us. Were such the case, German propagandists would not be conducting so strenuous and so costly a campaign to gain our good will. The ill feeling engendered by the Lusitania horror had largely died down, and this country had taken issue strongly with England on the detention of American ships and cargoes. It cannot be seen, therefore, how the destruction of the Arabic was other than a grave mistake on the part of Germany—unless the facts have been misstated.

STEALING A QUARTER

A few days ago a woman who works in a local store was arrested for the theft of twenty-five cents. Investigation revealed that she is the mother of five children and the main support of the family, the husband being an invalid. Her weekly wage is said to be $4.50. The store management declared that the woman received thirty cents for a sale, rang up five cents and put the quarter in her stocking. The woman declared in court that she found the quarter on the floor and secreted it instead of turning it over to the store. The case was filed and the woman was placed on probation.

Cases such as this throw a light on the conditions that exist in all large cities and show the pitiful struggle that some poor mortals are obliged to put up in order to ward off starvation and absolute misery. If this woman really is the sole support of a family of seven on a weekly wage of $4.50 or even of $5.50, one can easily understand how the sight of an extra quarter would prove a terrible temptation. We hear a great deal about the sufferings of those who work in mills and factories, but when all is weighed there may be far more cause for commiseration some of those who work in stores. It is stories such as that of the woman arrested for stealing a quarter that reconcile people to such impractical and theoretical movements, as that for a minimum wage large enough to keep the workers from

WOOLEN MILLS BUSY

The textile business as a whole has borne up well under the general strain of the war, but for months the woolen industry has not been called upon to manufacture the normal amount of material. Now a change has come, and the woolen mills in this part of the country announce large orders and prosperity ahead. All of the plants controlled by the American Woolen Company in Lawrence, Manchester and near Lowell are humming with activity, many of them being forced to work night and day in order to turn out the required amount of material.

Though the cause of changed conditions is not specifically stated it is admitted in a general way that war orders are responsible for the improvement. This can only indicate that another winter campaign is contemplated by the allies. Last year, the soldiers in the trenches suffered more from cold than from the attacks of the enemy, and many traditions were shattered. England and France have made many modifications in the dress of the soldiers who are obliged to take part in trench warfare, and warm uniforms have to be provided in order to avoid the rigors of cold and exposure. As this is the only country where large orders for woolen goods can be filled at the present time, it is very probable that preparation for another winter's fighting will keep the woolen mills of America busy for some time to come.

TRIED TO KIDNAP SON HEARD FORMER PASTOR

ALLEN GRACE TOOK SLEEPING BOY FROM HIS BED BUT WAS CAUGHT AFTER CHASE

WORCESTER, Aug. 23.—Entering the basement apartment at 18 Castle street through a rear window last night, Allen Grace of Providence, formerly of Worcester, attempted to kidnap his son, Bruce, aged 13, who has been living with his mother since three months ago, leaving a younger child behind as well as the boy.

Wrapping the boy, who was asleep, in his overcoat, Grace ran into Piedmont court and attempted to elude his pursuers by dodging back of the buildings. The police, who were summoned by neighbors of Mrs. Grace who heard her cries for help, caught Grace in Piedmont court half a block from the house.

He gave the boy, who was crying for his mother, and protesting against being carried away, back to the mother. The boy was taken from his bed in his night clothing. Grace took off his own coat and wrapped it around Bruce.

Fearing that another attempt would be made to kidnap the boy, Mrs. Grace called the police again last night and requested that the house be kept under constant watch. When the police brought the boy back to her she refused to enter a complaint against her husband, but late last night wanted him placed in Worcester jail.

Grace came to Worcester yesterday with a woman who gave her name as Helen Hall of 142 Chelsea street, Chelsea.

FIVE MEN WERE RESCUED

TAKEN FROM POWER BOAT BY HULL LIFE GUARDS—IN PIEDMONT OFF BOSTON LIGHT

HULL, Aug. 23.—Capt. William C. Sparrow and crew of the life guard at Stony beach rescued five men from the power boat Max of Boston, which was in a dangerous position last night off the rocks at Boston Light. Through his glass Capt. Sparrow saw a man waving a torch and ordered the boat launched.

On board the Max were Capt. B. J. Dobson, J. Dobson, W. Duns, A. Elms and A. W. Brown, all of Boston. They were on a pleasure trip and on their return their engine broke down, stranding them off the light. They were brought to Stony beach and went to Boston by steamer.

INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

THREE YOUNG MEN HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH IN AUTO ACCIDENT

George E. Cossette of 81 Ford street, Edmund Tremblay, 57 Pond street, Deane and Charles Fortier, 73 Dalton street, had a narrow escape from death when the automobile in which they were riding, late Saturday afternoon, crashed into a pole. Tremblay is suffering from bruises about the head and face as a result of the accident, while the other occupants of the car were uninjured.

The machine which is owned by Mr. Cossette was being driven up Moody street by the latter. When a spot was reached near the corner of Seventh avenue, the driver lost control and the car crashed into an electric pole. Tremblay and Fortier were thrown out, the former landing head-first on shoulders, while Cossette clung to the wheel. Tremblay's injuries were treated at the Lowell hospital. The automobile, which was later towed to the Moody Bridge garage, is a total wreck.

REV. B. A. WILMOTT PREACHED AT UNION CONGREGATIONAL SERVICE AT THE FIRST CHURCH

The pulpit at the First Congregational church was occupied yesterday by a former pastor, Rev. B. A. Wilmott of Roxbury. He preached at the union service in the morning and all the Congregational churches of the city were represented. He spoke of the conditions that surrounded the disciples at the time when Jesus was to leave them, and of the command of Jesus "That ye love one another, even as I have loved you."

"The love of Christ," said the speaker, "is strong. You think, perhaps that this teaching of Jesus is a dream, not possible to realize in this world of ours. But what has your philosophy done for the world? What has it done in business life? It has caused a grumbling discontent throughout the whole of our land. It has brought the day when the many, conscious of the injustice of the few, are combining and using the same philosophy that the few use. When the many combine to crush the few, then the day of reckoning comes; and it is coming very quickly. Your philosophy is not the philosophy of Jesus; it has brought no peace in the industrial world."

"What has it done internationally, this doctrine of hate force which those men confronted in Rome? If the teaching of Jesus is an iridescent dream, then what we see in Europe is a horrible nightmare. Old women tremble every night, lest a demon in the skies will drop a bomb upon their heads, and before the night is past, the Lord Christ has not had his opportunity yet; the faith of Christ has never reigned in Europe."

"Jesus would fain remind us that after all, ecclesiastical creeds, can never conquer the world. But a group of men living together in any community and calling that community in a spirit of love, is bound to be heard and heeded by that community. The world may not accept your creeds, but it understands Jesus pretty well. So, after all, it is a question for every one of us, whether we dare to follow Jesus, whether we dare to be called and the big waves. When she saw her mother dive into the water and a big wave over her up, she began to cry and scream with all her might and kept it up, in spite of her sisters telling her that it was all right and Edward laughing and calling her a 'fraid cat.'"

When her mother came to the surface, waved her hand and called to Ethel who stopped crying and dug her fat little toes in the sand while the others began to wade out into the water. Ethel seemed to think as long as they were in sight it was all right; until Edward grasped her in his arms, and before she knew it, had carried her out where she was soon wading with the rest.

Then her father came and put her on his back and swam out a long way, which Ethel thought was very nice and she cried out for more when her father came ashore with her. Ethel showed her where to find pretty shells and pink starfish and showed her how to fix the fish so they would dry and keep their shape.

When the tide went out the three Es hunted for crabs and gathered a large basketful which they took home. Their mother boiled them for their lunch which they ate out on the rocks in picnic fashion.

Johnson were arrested. They were taken from 38 Carroll street, where, according to the police, a stabbing affray took place early yesterday morning.

The Johnson woman was arrested when she was caught in the act, the police say, of passing a bottle of liquor to Hoglund after he was placed in his cell. At least every man in the party was cut on the face.

Miss Theresa Blum of Philadelphia, has the distinction of being the youngest manager of a ladies' wear specialty shop in the country.

THREE BUILDINGS BURN

FIRE AT WEST RUTLAND, VT., CAUSES $10,000 LOSS—COVERED BY INSURANCE

RUTLAND, Vt., Aug. 23.—Fire which did $10,000 damage, burning three buildings to the ground and damaging two others, was discovered in a wooden structure in the vicinity of the former Gilson-Woodfin marble concern at West Rutland at 3.30 yesterday morning. Before the blaze was under control at 7 the Vermont Marble company's carpenter shop was in ashes, a big storehouse was destroyed, while the office building once used by the Gilson-Woodfin company was partially burned, as was the old Baxter mill and the Gilson mill.

A power house which was in the vicinity was also destroyed, but recently the marble company completed a big power house north of the burned district. In the carpenter shop were fine Oregon pine derrick poles and the loss on these was $1500.

The loss is covered by insurance. It is probable some temporary arrangement will be made and a new building for the carpenters be constructed of marble.

Companies 1, 2, 3 and 4 of the village fire department and the Vermont Marble company's department responded to the alarm. Over 2500 feet of hose was laid and two streams were kept busy confining the blaze to the buildings, which were a roaring furnace when the firemen arrived.

RAZORS, REVOLVERS, BLACKJACKS AND BEER BOTTLES USED—TWO IN HOSPITAL AND 10 ARRESTED

WORCESTER, Aug. 23.—Two men are in the city hospital and 10 persons are under arrest as a result of rows in two sections of the city yesterday. Razors, revolvers, blackjacks and beer bottles played an important part in causing the injuries and arrests.

The police surgeons were called upon to treat five of the men arrested. The most seriously assaulted were Adolph Grady, aged 26, and Alexander Burton, aged 27, both of the Kensington street. They are in the city hospital suffering from stab wounds on the head, face and arms.

They received their injuries, the police say, in a row that occurred in Kensington street. They were placed under arrest with Adolph Patis, Joseph Chvorin and Adolph Rowdewer, who also received minor cuts on the face.

SLEEPYTIME TALES

THE THREE E CHILDREN

Once upon a time there were three children whose first names all began with E. The oldest was Edna, then Edward, and the youngest, little Ethel, who was only four years old. Nearly all of their friends called them "The E children," and I am afraid some of the grown-ups did too. Soon after their school closed they all moved to their cottage at the seashore and the very next morning after they arrived saw them all in their bathing suits, down on the beach ready for the first dip in the ocean.

Little Ethel had forgotten about the last summer and was a little afraid of the big waves. When she saw her mother dive into the water and a big wave over her up, she began to cry and scream with all her might and kept it up, in spite of her sisters telling her that it was all right and Edward laughing and calling her a "fraid cat."

When her mother came to the surface, waved her hand and called to Ethel who stopped crying and dug her fat little toes in the sand while the others began to wade out into the water. Ethel seemed to think as long as they were in sight it was all right; until Edward grasped her in his arms, and before she knew it, had carried her out where she was soon wading with the rest.

Then her father came and put her on his back and swam out a long way, which Ethel thought was very nice and she cried out for more when her father came ashore with her. Edna showed her where to find pretty shells and pink starfish and showed her how to fix the fish so they would dry and keep their shape.

When the tide went out the three Es hunted for crabs and gathered a large basketful which they took home. Their mother boiled them for their lunch which they ate out on the rocks in picnic fashion.

Julius Carden Attempts Suicide in North Adams, Is Thrown 15 Feet, But Escapes Injury

NORTH ADAMS, Aug. 23.—Julius Carden, brother of the Lynn man who died last week, attempted suicide yesterday morning by jumping in front of the little tunnel. He was thrown about 15 feet and struck on a pile of stones. The train was stopped and the crew made a hasty examination. The police were notified and took Carden to the police station, where an examination failed to reveal an injury of any sort, and he was booked on a charge of drunkenness.

SULLIVAN IS CHAMPION

human endurance, he wanted to continue. He was finally prevailed upon to leave the water by his pilot, Capt. N. L. Smith of Winthrop, and his trainer, John Conlon of this city. The cause of the absence of several swimmers had not been seen for several hours. The local boy was in the water 14 hours and 20 minutes.

Sullivan won his match against Richards shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday night when the Boston seafarer was taken from the water with severe cramps in both legs. Up to that time both men had been swimming together, Sullivan using a breast stroke, 34 to the minute, and Richards making 24 strokes to the minute on a beautifully executed single overarm stroke. During the time Richards was in the water they both kept up a running fire conversation with each other, and Sullivan frequently sang snatches of popular songs.

Toth, who was put in to the race at the last moment by the L. Street Swimming Club, was pulled out of the water at 2:07 Sunday morning, after having covered about 16 miles.

Starting Point at Nantasket

About seven thousand people witnessed the start of the race and hundreds of motor-boats and small craft followed the swimmers over part of the course. At 2:30 o'clock the men got into their bathing suits and both were covered with a coating of grease. Richards made the start first, and Sullivan was a full swimming suit, while Sullivan was clad in light trunks. Richards stated that he wore the heavy swimming suit to keep him back in the water. The swimmers waded out in the water at 3:35 o'clock and promptly at 3:40, Lawrence Sweeney, a Boston newspaper man, gave the word which started the swimmers on their long journey.

Kept Together

From the start, both men swam neck and neck and their pilots took them out on a straight line for Nantasket. Richards was in the lead, and his pilot, John Conlon, was in the lead. Richards was in the lead, and his pilot, John Conlon, was in the lead. Richards was in the lead, and his pilot, John Conlon, was in the lead.

John Conlon, the old time swimmer and lifeguard, who had acted as Richards' trainer and pilot, was crestfallen when Richards stopped.

Toth, who was put in to the race at the last moment by the L. Street Swimming Club, was pulled out of the water at 2:07 Sunday morning, after having covered about 16 miles.

For the first three miles, the sea was as placid as a lake, but after this distance had been reached, a strong flood tide was encountered. The swimmers were escorted by a fleet of boats, and both men were frequently cheered. The Rosebud, which was the official boat, carried the officials of the race, newspaper men and others. A boat loaded with members of the C. Y. M. L. of this city followed Sullivan, and was with him at the finish yesterday morning. The members of the local society won hundreds of friends by their clean sportsmanship, and they were given a grand ovation. Every time Sullivan was cheered, the Acre lads followed with shouts of encouragement to Richards, and when the South Boston swimmer was pulled out of the water, they were the first to offer their sympathy. Richards was the best set of boys he ever had in the pleasure of meeting, and the C. Y. M. L. lads deserved every word of his praise.

Swimmers Took Nourishment

Minot's Light, opposite Cohasset harbor was reached shortly before 9 o'clock and a short time after the swimmers took their first nourishment. At this time the writer left the official boat and went out in a small dory to see how Sullivan was getting along. Henry was eating solid food, consisting of chicken, meat, and vegetables, and his trainer, John Conlon, had him milled milk for him. When the writer pulled in, Sullivan had his usual stomach full of chicken, and he nearly choked himself trying to get it down so that he could welcome his Lowell friend. He was in perfect condition and told the writer that he could stay in the water for the next two days if he had to. John Conlon, the big, husky Lowell man, who trained Sullivan for the swim, was also much pleased to see the newspaperman, and said that Sullivan was in perfect condition. All the time the two were in conversation, Richards was swimming alongside and whenever Sullivan's name was mentioned, Sam would raise his head out of the water and smile. Mr. Conlon, however, was trying to jolly Richards into saying something, but Sam took everything good-naturedly, and when the newspaperman left for the official boat, Richards turned around and shouted to the writer, "I am sure and say something good about him."

When the writer reached the official boat again darkness had set in and the water became very choppy. At 5 o'clock in the evening the tide turned and started to run out but the swimmers were not benefited as their course led them to the shore and for several miles they saved their way through a strong current. When the tide turned, the swimmers were in the water and the swimmers bucked an incoming flood tide, and they made but little headway.

L Street Swimmers Follow

Shortly after the start of the Sullivan-Richards race, Charles Toth, Henry J. Miron and Arthur Smallcomb, all members of the L. Street Swimming Club, started on the same course. Toth was the only one of the three who seriously considered the undertaking. Smallcomb going less than a mile, and Miron acting as a pacemaker for Toth for about five miles.

Miron, who is the record holder for the Boston Light course, set a stiff pace for Toth, and the two gained steadily on Sullivan and Richards during the first few miles of the swim.

Both Sullivan and Richards were visible for more than an hour along the Cohasset shore, which was lined with people and automobiles. Both were frequently greeted with applause and encouragement.

About 7:15 in the evening Richards and Sullivan approached the revolving light at Minot's and they then swam straight across the entrance to Cohasset harbor. As the men swam, Richards noticed that he was ready for his "rest," and immediately a small lamp was lit in the dory, and Kessonor soon served Sam with hot chicken soup.

After the dangerous ledge and Minot's Light had been passed, the swimmers took a southeast course, headed towards Race Point and at 8 o'clock they started for the open sea. Up until this time every detail of the race previously arranged schedule had been lived up to, and everything had been gone over as planned months ahead of time by the swimmers. Now all vestige of shore was obliterated and only a number of channel lights and other warning signal lights were visible to the eye.

Toth, who had been keeping up his racing stroke was at this time less than a mile in the rear of Richards and Sullivan, but Miron had left him and got into the L street boat.

Sullivan Upsets Dope

Sullivan and his handlers had been led to believe before the start of the race that Richards would swim his own race, and try to distance the Lowell swimmer as soon as possible. Sullivan, however, upset these plans soon after he got into his proper swimming stroke by worrying Richards with his speedy breast stroke. First he would fall back a few yards to the rear, and a few minutes later would catch him and then sprint by him. Richards used his overarm stroke, which made him known to every lover of the swimming game, and the fact that he could not distance Sullivan was playing on him. They continued side by side until the start was made for the open sea.

Richards Drops Out

Everything went well until 9 o'clock when Richards started to lag behind. It was plain to be seen that something was the matter but the stocky swimmer refused to explain. He continued this lagging until 9:17 p. m., and then he uttered a wild shriek, which made Sullivan turn to look, and saw him in a terrible state and was having a hard time to keep afloat. Both legs were doubled up towards his back, and he was in great pain. He was taken in a dory to the L Street boat and afterwards transferred to the official boat.

John Bray, the old time swimmer and lifeguard, who had acted as Richards' trainer and pilot, was crestfallen when Richards stopped.

Toth, who was put in to the race at the last moment by the L. Street Swimming Club, was pulled out of the water at 2:07 Sunday morning, after having covered about 16 miles.

After getting Richards safely aboard the official boat a search for Toth was instituted and he was found swimming lathers off Duxbury, and night wore along the official boat lay to with a broken rudder rope and was caused considerable excitement aboard, especially when the skipper announced that the craft was unseaworthy, and that it would be the height of folly to attempt to saw through the waters of Cape Cod and Massachusetts Bay.

John Conlon, the old time swimmer and lifeguard, who had acted as Richards' trainer and pilot, was crestfallen when Richards stopped.

Toth, who was put in to the race at the last moment by the L. Street Swimming Club, was pulled out of the water at 2:07 Sunday morning, after having covered about 16 miles.

After Toth was taken out the official boat was again started out to find Sullivan, but the skipper absolutely refused to go further, and the engines were stopped and the boat drifted aimlessly about. This continued for a long time, and when the skipper tried to start up again it was daylight. The start was made with the engine sounding like a one-cylinder motor-cycle, and very little progress was made against the wind, which at this time was lashed into fury by the wind.

With no hope of catching up with Sullivan in the official dory-trap propelled by a decidedly cranky engine, the boat was steered around in circles, and but few on board knew where they were. The officials who were in the dory, and the fact that made the Lowell people especially uneasy. The engine was finally shut off and the boat was allowed to drift. At seven o'clock yesterday morning, Brant's Rock was located. The official boat had been pushed back to Brant's Rock by the tide, and the engines were started at 7 o'clock the party would undoubtedly have found themselves somewhere back in the vicinity of the starting point at Nantasket beach. Here the pilot steered between rocky ledges and the old craft beached. The coming of the boat attracted considerable attention, and fishermen and their wives and cottagers soon gathered around to find out the meaning of the invasion. They witnessed the sight of their lives, however, in the form of a rescue of some 27 souls.

For the two small boats which had been dragged behind the big boat over the entire course, as if they were submarines miles out at sea. It was a perfect setting for the movies. The boat was beached about 50 yards off shore, and there wasn't a possibility of getting drowned if it was as smooth as a river. The excitement of the night had tried the nerves of most of the party, and they all rushed helter-skelter to make their escape. Eight and nine people were packed in the boats which were built to the shore and trips were made to the shore and back to the boat until all were taken out.

The party then proceeded to Peace Dale Inn at Brant's Rock where they waited for an auto bus which took them to Marshfield, whence they proceeded by train to Boston.

all continent immediately after the return to Lowell, while Thomas B. Sullivan and the writer started for Winthrop to find out the result of the swim.

On their arrival at the home of Capt.

N. L. Smith in Beacon street, Winthrop, they ran into a reception which was being tendered the local boy, by the people along Winthrop beach. The room in which the reception took place was literally covered with flowers and he received many handsome presents. Mrs. George Leppin, Mrs. Fred Darling and Mrs. E. J. Smith were in charge of the reception. Henry was in excellent condition and said he felt no ill effects on coming out of the water.

When Richards was taken out of the water he was immediately interviewed by The Sun representative, and the South Boston inn showed he was a thorough sportsman, by stating that he was much pleased that he was beaten by so clean a young man as Henry F. Sullivan. "He's the greatest swimmer I ever competed with, and I am perfectly willing to turn over all honors to him," he stated. "I am getting old now, and I guess I'll have to be content to let the younger fellows plug the game. Sullivan will make a good champion."

Sullivan at Winthrop

Sullivan will stay at the home of Capt. N. L. Smith at Winthrop for the rest of the week to rest up. His little mascot, "Curley" Lappin, a little fellow who was with him on all his training stunts, was the first to welcome him home. He hung close to Henry all during the day, and seemed to get very jealous if anybody else absorbed any of his time.

All the credit for Sullivan's accomplishment outside of the hard work done by the local waterfront in covering the long grind should go to Capt. N. L. Smith, who acted as pilot on the swim, and John Conlon of this city, who trained Sullivan. Especially to the latter is due the most of the credit, for his fatherly interest taken in the local boy in all his swims. It was Conlon who thought Sullivan could make Boston Light, and he made him do it. It was also Conlon who went with Sullivan to England to swim the this morning and the few who were there didn't seem inclined to talk.

Chief Saunders

The U. S. Firemen's association will hold its annual convention in Cincinnati next week and Fire Chief Saunders will attend the convention. Commissioner Carmichael has not yet decided whether he will go, but he has not yet decided whether he will go, but he has not yet decided whether he will go.

"We will not hold another meeting until the mayor comes back and the date of that meeting I think will be September 7. I was only in the office an hour this morning when I was called upon to write letters for persons who want to bring relatives here from Europe. It seems that the U. S. immigration officers are very strict in other countries at the present time and in order that no one shall be admitted here who might later become a public charge they exact letters of introduction or recommendation from city officials and others."

Westford Street Fire House

Asked if he was going to strip the Westford street fire house, Commissioner Carmichael stated that the chemical would be allowed to remain there and that the horses had been returned. The commissioner stated, however, that more chemical was taken to fires in the Highlands in the motorized apparatus than was contained in the chemical at the Westford street house. He said that not less than 150 gallons of chemical goes to every fire, and there is hardly any necessary for the chemical at the Westford street house, but if property owners demand it he is willing that it shall remain there.

Mr. Carmichael was asked about the fire department horses and said that a lot of them were crippled. "They are eating their heads off and we will have to dispose of them in some way," he said.

Harvesting Enslaves Corn

The potato crop at the city farm, it was stated this morning, will be a little short this year, but the corn crop will be about normal. Men are now engaged in harvesting about 200 tons of ensilage corn. The harvesting is being done by Arthur Bunham of Westford and the cutting by H. L. Hauser of Chelmsford. The harvest crew includes about fifteen of the inmates.

Memorial Hall Contracts

Contracts for the reconstruction of Memorial hall were opened this week. Mr. Carmichael stated this morning that architects and contractors will have to pay for blue prints and that the same can be had at the office of John A. Stevens.

Registration Tomorrow

Registration for the state election will begin at city hall tomorrow. The polls for registration will be from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. The industrial accident board will hold a meeting in the aldermanic chamber at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow forenoon.

Hard luck. Late Saturday night two men standing on the sidewalk noticed a man come out of a saloon go into an entry and deposit something on the floor. After he had gone they both entered the entry to investigate. To their delight they found two nice cold bottles of beer. "Here's luck," said one as he started to turn the contents of the bottle into a thirsty man. "Drink harty," responded his companion as he disposed of the other bottle. Going home, when they left the entry bottles in the entry and departed. A little later another thirty man entered the entry. That's where the hard luck came in.

Hard luck. Late Saturday night two men standing on the sidewalk noticed a man come out of a saloon go into an entry and deposit something on the floor. After he had gone they both entered the entry to investigate. To their delight they found two nice cold bottles of beer. "Here's luck," said one as he started to turn the contents of the bottle into a thirsty man. "Drink harty," responded his companion as he disposed of the other bottle. Going home, when they left the entry bottles in the entry and departed. A little later another thirty man entered the entry. That's where the hard luck came in.

GREAT RUSSIAN VICTORY

11 German Warships Sunk in the Gulf of Riga — Cruiser Moltke Lost

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The German fleet has quit the Gulf of Riga, after suffering a severe loss under the guns of the Russian warships in last Thursday's naval engagement.

The great battle cruiser Moltke, sister ship of the Goeben and one of the fleet's most powerful German ships, was sent to the bottom by the Russian guns. Three German cruisers and seven torpedo boats were also destroyed. The loss of the Moltke gave the Russian fleet the advantage in weight of metal, and the Germans hastily withdrew from Riga Bay.

The Germans had tried to make a landing near Pernau (Pernell) on the east shore of the Gulf of Riga, some 35 miles north of Riga. Four barges crowded with soldiers took part in the landing. German warships that were attempting to cover this landing, were promptly engaged by the Russian fleet, and the landing was repulsed by Russian troops without the support of artillery on shore.

The entire German force was exterminated and the barges were captured. The announcement of this victory of the Russian naval arm was received with great enthusiasm here. It was announced in the Duma by the president yesterday. It was also announced officially by the navy office that the German fleet had left the Gulf of Riga.

In the Black Sea the Russian destroyers have been busy and so far, it was announced, they have sunk more than 100 Turkish boats.

NAVY DEPARTMENT REPORT
PETROGRAD, Aug. 23, via London, 12:30 p. m.—The recent naval battle in the Gulf of Riga is described as follows in a statement from the navy headquarters:

"The German fleet on Aug. 16 renewed with large forces its attacks on our positions at the entrance to the Gulf of Riga. Our ships during the 16th and 17th repulsed the attacks of the enemy whose secret preparations for entering the gulf had been favored singularly by misty weather.

"Sailing advantage on a thick fog, hostile forces of considerable size entered the gulf on the 15th and our vessels retired at the same time, continuing to resist the enemy without losing touch with him.

"On the 15th and 20th the enemy reconnoitered in different directions, at the same time keeping up a fight with our ships, in which they expended considerable material losses. On our side we lost the gunboat Sivutsh, which was destroyed in an unequal fight and an enemy cruiser which was escorted torpedo craft came up to a distance of 400 yards from her. The Sivutsh, enveloped in flames continued to reply shot for shot until she sank, having previously sunk enemy torpedo boats.

"In view of the loss suffered and the failure of his efforts, the enemy appears to have evacuated the Gulf of Riga on the 21st.

"Between the 16th and 21st the two enemy cruisers and no fewer than eight torpedo boats were either sunk or placed hors de combat. Simultaneously our gallant allies succeeded in torpedoing in the Baltic one of the most powerful dreadnaughts.

The foregoing contains no reference to the loss of the Russian gunboat Sivutsh, which was said in an official German statement of Saturday to have been sunk as well as the Sivutsh.

N. Y. LAWYER ATTACKED

FORMER ASSISTANT DISTRICT ATTORNEY UNDER GOV. WHITMAN BEATEN AND ROBBED

BOSTON, Aug. 23.—Charles E. Colligan, formerly assistant district attorney of New York under Gov. Whitman, was taken to a hospital upon his arrival from New York on the steamer Bunker Hill today, suffering from a compound fracture of the right leg. Colligan told the police that he had been attacked by a crowd of men during the night and also that later he had been robbed of $30.

Two men were detained by the police to await the outcome of the lawyers' inquiries. Subsequently the officers stated that Colligan had said he would not prosecute anyone, although he recognized his assailants' names, whom he knew while he was connected with the district attorney's office.

Colligan was on his way to visit his wife who is seriously ill at a hospital here. He was attended on the steamer by Dr. J. W. Lyman, who was returning to his home here after service at Bellevue hospital in New York.

4 YEAR SEARCH ENDS
MOTHER FINDS BOY AFTER TRAVELING THROUGH THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA

FORT WORTH, Tex., Aug. 23.—A four-year search through the United States and Canada for her eight-year old son was ended here today by Mrs. Julia Delo of Quebec, Canada, who identified the boy held by authorities here since the arrest of Charles F. Cortell on March 5, as her son.

Cortell had been arrested on a charge of assault. He had been traveling around the country with the boy. They told conflicting stories and were ordered held. Cortell, officials said, probably would be charged with abduction.

The boy recognized his mother immediately, although he was only four years old when he disappeared from home.

LOWELL MAN ARRESTED

Kenneth Lipps of This City Charged With Stealing Two Automobiles

Harry J. Roberts, a well known member of Tabor's Sixth Regiment band, left yesterday for Maine, where he expects to recover his automobile, which was stolen in this city last March. It was learned yesterday that the Lowell man's machine is in storage at Biddeford.

The car was stolen from the garage at 51 West Fifth street on March 17 and since that time the police have been endeavoring to recover the stolen machine. Sergt. Pettie was detailed on the job and he followed a clue which led him to believe the thief was located in Saco or Biddeford. Mr. Pettie was on the lookout for the suspected thief with the result that the long sought for man was located at Old Orchard beach. The young man, who gave the name of Kenneth Lipps, and who said he formerly resided in this city, was arrested Saturday for the Haverhill police for larceny of an automobile and as soon as his case is disposed of in Haverhill, he will be brought to Lowell.

Kenneth Lipps is 23 years of age, and is the son of E. S. Lipps of this city. The car alleged to have been stolen from Harry J. Roberts in Lowell last spring was brought to Ocean Park, where it was stored until May. It is the racing car that was found in York river some ten days ago, after having crashed through the railing of the bridge. The following day the car, which was driven at the time of the accident by a Biddeford young man, was brought to Biddeford and yesterday was found in the garage of Harry Brown in that city.

Another machine alleged to have been stolen to Seabrook cost $2750 and was owned by Mrs. Julia Durgin of Haverhill, who has a summer home at Seabrook. The car had been stripped and the body was located by Chief Robinson at Ocean Park. A platform had been built on the running wheel.

Lipps married a 16-year-old Biddeford girl last October. Last winter they lived, she says, with Mr. Lipps' parents in Lowell, where he was a chauffeur for a Lowell party and second to be a well conducted and polite young man. She said last night that she was going back to Biddeford and get a job in the cotton mills. She says her husband's father owns a garage in Lowell.

Lipps has been working in a garage at Old Orchard until recently. He is an expert machinist.

Arraigned at Portsmouth.
Kenneth Lipps, alias Everett Philipps, charged with larceny of automobiles, was brought to Portsmouth, N. H., Saturday, from Old Orchard, Me., by Sheriff Ceylon Spinner.

Yesterday George N. Durgin, son of the owner of one stolen car, Chief of Police Mack and Alderman Hoyt of Haverhill, went to Portsmouth and, accompanied by Sheriff Spinner, went to Old Orchard. The car was found stripped but was positively identified by Mr. Durgin.

Lipps went to Portsmouth willingly, making unnecessary to obtain extradition papers.

In the main house the thresholds are marble, all gas fixtures are equipped with automatic lighting attachment, each chamber is connected by push button call with the kitchen, the southeast chamber is connected by speaking tube with the kitchen, every room and every hall in the house has at least one over-size steam radiator; all windows are fitted with screens, the frame of which matches the wood work of the room; there are extensive piazzas—extending to the four sides of the house; the porte cochere at the carriage entrance at the side of the house is set on heavy granite posts, that conform to the granite steps at the entrance to the house—and is midway of the driveway leading from street to stable; the building while of the most substantial character and durable finish does need some few repairs and some attention, yet the expenditures for the same will prove merely nominal when compared with the original outlay. The rear hall—in the ell—is finished in cherry, and leading therefrom are—a large and roomy bath room finished in black walnut, and chamber—finished in cherry, the wall papers however are not included; a small west middle sized chamber finished in black walnut, has ample closet and is naturally lighted from one side; at the extreme southern end of the rear hall are two splendid maid's chambers finished in cherry—one on either side of the hall, also opening from the rear hall is a clothes closet connected by chute with laundry in the basement, a door to the roof piazza, and also an entrance to the stairway to the third floor. The basement extends under the entire house, and is divided by partition into—two excellently equipped laundry of clothes yard; also into storage rooms for the keeping of preserves, etc.; milk, etc.; work room, boiler room and coal bins, etc; the basement is naturally lighted from four full sides.

THE STABLE—At the rear of the land at the Canton street front is the stable, the first floor of which is divided by sliding doors into two sections—the front section has four roomy stalls, broad stable floor, a harness room equipped with glass front harness case, storage drawers, set bowl, and toilet—also broad and narrow entrances from the front driveway; the rear section is provided with a wash stand, workman's bench with mechanic's bench vice, open floor for three or more automobiles—also entrance from rear driveway; both sections are sheathed and painted and have a height of post of 10 ft. or more; over the front section is a high posted second story—with hay loft above; the main floors are unusually well lighted naturally from four sides, are artificially lighted by electricity, and the building is equipped for steam heating; there is a high basement (3 ft. post) with concrete floor under the entire building, the rear section of which is finished off as a work shop and provided with workman's bench, mechanic's bench vice, etc., and the front section is set off by brick partition as a stable stall. The architecture of the stable is in keeping with the house—seven to the high cut granite foundation, roof projections, shored roof, style of windows, blinds, etc., on top of all this is a cupola provided with weather vane.

THE LAND—The land has a total area of 22,433 sq. ft., a frontage of 100 ft. on Middlesex street, a frontage of 195 ft. on Canton street, the house sets back 40 ft. from Middlesex street and at least 50 ft. from Canton street, the stable is 30 ft. back from the nearest point to the house, there is a concrete driveway leading from Middlesex street under the porte cochere to the stable, a concrete driveway direct from Canton street to the stable, a second concrete driveway from Canton street leads across the extreme rear of the lot and around the stable to the basement beneath, the land is much ornamented by tree, shrubbery and vine—fruit in great variety and abundance is laid down to an even handsome and level lawn, and the two largest ornamental iron urns at the street front are included in the sale of Lot One.

NOTA BENE
The premises will be thrown open for examination and inspection after 10 a. m. the day of sale. The premises can also be inspected between two and five o'clock each afternoon by application at the door—beginning with the Saturday next preceding the day of sale. Small plans showing the division of the estate in detail may be had upon application at the office of the auctioneer.

LOTS TWO AND THREE

Lot Two and Lot Three are adjoining lots on Middlesex street immediately west of Lot One. Each has a total area of 6500 sq. ft. of land, each has a frontage of 50 ft., a depth of 130 ft., is perfectly regular in shape, is of even grade, was formerly down to the smoothest of lawns, and is either possessed of handsome and mature shade trees or thrifty young fruit trees. There are no more desirable lots in this vicinity than the two lots just described. An inspection of them will not prove disappointing.

LOT FOUR
Lot Four is a very attractive corner lot that has both size and mature development, a total area of 1750 sq. ft. of land, a frontage of 75 ft. on Middlesex street, a frontage of 150 ft. on Stevens street, a uniform depth of 150 ft., a width at the rear of 55 ft., very little labor attention will provide a rich even surface lawn over the entire lot, upon it are more than twenty thrifty young fruit trees, several shade and ornamental trees and all the preliminary expenditures, work and development, to bring this lot to maturity and the point of building upon have already been completed.

NOTA BENE
Lot One, Lot Two, Lot Three, and Lot Four are graded slightly above the level of Middlesex, Canton and Stevens streets, are separated therefrom by heavy cut granite curb—with ornamental designation posts at the driveways and walks.

LOT FIVE
Lot Five in some ways is the most attractive lot upon the premises. It has a total area of 16,582 sq. ft. of land, a frontage of 70 ft. on Stevens street—and is set off therefrom by hedge and shrubbery. Extends back parallel with the southernly lines of Lots Two, Three and Four, is absolutely regular in shape, is possessed of a substantial two and one-half story building, 65x120 ft.—on concrete foundation and two story annex 20x20 ft.; the larger building was originally erected with the idea that sometime might be converted into a house, the second floor is free from partition and open to the roof, the first floor is also free from obstruction with the exception of temporary stanchions used by Mr. Fifield for his Jersey cows, beneath the whole structure is a high posted cellar with cement walls—formerly used for vegetable storage; the two story annex at the southeasterly corner was formerly used for deer and poultry; there are also two single story buildings—one 20x40 and the other 18x11 ft.—now partially upon or very close to the southerly boundary line of Lot Five which are to be included in the sale thereof, notice is hereby given that said buildings are reserved from the sale of Lot Six. There are two single story buildings—20x10 and 16x11 ft.—which are now either partially on Lot Five or very close to its southerly boundary line that are to be included in the sale of Lot Five and notice is hereby given that said buildings are reserved from the sale of Lot Six. The land with Lot Five is level, is at even grade with Stevens street, and it too has its fair share of shade trees—gathered

LOT SIX
Lot Six has a total area of 1932 sq. ft. of land, a frontage of 65 ft. on Stevens street, an average depth of 147 ft., is supplied with a dozen or more mature fruit trees and vines, is practically at grade with Stevens street, is directly opposite Nos. 55 and 63 and is adjoined on its southerly side by No. 74 Stevens street. Stevens street is one of the most pleasant to live upon and certainly one of the most genteel residence streets in the Highland district and there is not a location upon the street that exceeds Lot Five to build upon.

Auctioneers

LOTS SEVEN AND EIGHT

Lot Seven and Lot Eight contain 8300 and 6281 sq. ft. of land respectively, adjoin each other, are just south of 1.0 One on Canton street—where each has an equal frontage of 43 ft. One on Canton street—green house structures—but in the making of the division between the two lots no attention was paid to the green houses, there are more than twenty-five full grown fruit trees upon the two lots—not to speak of a considerable amount of attractive shrubbery; upon Lot Eight there is a 70 ft. head because of that for a long time has been the mow of the neighborhood—seems absolutely inhospitable; the lots are directly opposite No. 24 on Canton street and are set off from said street by fence. That portion of Lot One is included in the purchase of Lot Eight—and notice is hereby given that said portion of said green house is reserved from the sale of Lot One; there have recently been erected upon Canton street several excellent and modest residences, yet the lots so used were barren in their development—when compared with all these lots offer.

NOTA BENE

The Fifield Residential Estate—herewith described in eight separate and distinct parcels—has streets on three sides of it with a combined frontage on Middlesex street of 275 ft., with a combined frontage on Canton street of 284 ft., a combined frontage on Stevens street of 265 ft., has a total area of 71,818 sq. ft. of land—equalling 1 3/4 acres—is adjoined on the southerly side by the residences of Mr. Frank E. Bailey and Mr. Robert G. Bartlett, and is across as any of the most expensive residences in Lowell. Across Middlesex street are the three handsome residential properties of Mr. Charles F. Young, Mr. Charles A. Brown and Mr. John B. Pilling; and on the opposite corner of Middlesex and Stevens streets is the city residence of Mr. Frank E. Putnam.

Lot Nine has a frontage of 46 ft. on Lawton street and a total area of 5090 sq. ft., the lots adjoin each other, are at even grade with the streets, each has several large full grown fruit trees; Lawton street leaves Middlesex street between Nos. 1029 and 1045, Spring avenue leaves Walker street directly opposite No. 267 or just north of No. 272, the lots are high and dry, are from five to ten minutes walk of the plants of—The Peavey Foundry Co., The Lawson Store, The Lyon Company, The John Pilling Shoe Co., The Pure Food Package Co., The Lowell Textile Co., The Lowell Textile Co., The Lowell Weaving Co., The Lowell Gas Light Company, and not more than twelve of fifteen minutes' walk to the many and varied industries in the vicinity of Dutton street and Western avenue.

Lot Eleven comprises nearly three acres of land—129,445 sq. ft.—on Middlesex street just beyond Webster street and directly opposite No. 1553 Middlesex street. It has a frontage of 199 ft., extends back more than 600 ft. to Black Brook, is 110 ft. wide on Webster street, lies perfectly for development, is regular in shape, its long bordering lines are parallel, is quickly adaptable to a sub-division, is very useful as it looks cars at this point furnish a 15 minutes service all day and into the night, is but seventeen or eighteen minutes trolley ride to Merrimack Square—any time day or evening (double track service), the street is stone paved for a considerable distance east or west of this point. Webster street—a comparatively new and accepted city street—extends from Middlesex street to Princeton boulevard—east of the herewith described land and all the time parallel therewith, today it is improved to the extent of seven substantial homes.

Lot Twelve comprises some 95,500 sq. ft. of land—the equal of 2 1/4 acres—located at the intersection of Princeton (boulevard) and Baldwin streets, forming the northeastern corner thereof. The land extends from No. 453 Princeton street (boulevard) by circular corner and curved line 400 ft. to the center of Black Brook on Baldwin street, the trolley cars at Baldwin street are but 430 ft. via Baldwin street from the northerly boundary of the land, the trolley cars at Westford street are not more than 1520 ft. via Pine street from the easterly boundary of the land, building improvements have taken place right up to the line of the land on Princeton street (Boulevard) and right up to the line of the land on Baldwin street, the Princeton street front of the land is at the grade of the street, the Baldwin street front of the land is at the grade of the street, the land at the rear of the lot is at a lower level—every bit of it however is ready at any minute for improvement. A small "Square" is formed at the intersection of the two streets because of the round corner of this land—of this little "Square" the city has made and maintained a pretty bed of hedge and blooming foliage.

QUEBEC STREET AT AYER'S CITY

O'CLOCKSULLIVAN IS CHAMPION
SWIMMER OF AMERICA

Henry F. Sullivan of this city is today the acknowledged amateur champion long distance swimmer of the world having successfully disposed of Sam Richards, hitherto considered unbeatable in a test of speed and endurance in their match race from Nantasket beach to Race Point, Provincetown. Sullivan also demonstrated his superiority over Charles Toth, the L street swimmer, who started in another match over the same water, and besides establishing a new mileage record for open sea swimming in America, he broke the world's record for continued use of the breast stroke by one hour and five minutes. The previous record for the breast stroke was 13 hours and 15 minutes. Sullivan got into his boat unassisted in Massachusetts bay yesterday morning at 6 o'clock after having covered approximately 33 miles of the long grind. Race Point was but eight and one-half miles away, and although he was swimming in a maelstrom of a swirling, angry tide that almost defied

ST. LOUIS COUNTY RECOVERING
FROM FLOOD—2000 FAMILIES ARE
HOMELESS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 23.—St. Louis county was recovering today from the third flood which has descended upon this community in as many days—a flood that cost 12 lives, possibly millions more, destroyed property to the value of $10,000,000, and left 2000 families homeless. Almost a hundred persons are listed as missing. River men fear that the falling of the Meramec river today may disclose a heavy toll in human lives.

Equally distressing conditions prevail throughout southeastern Missouri and parts of western Illinois, where the toll, less severe in the number of lives lost, is far greater in damage to property and crops.

FOUND DEAD IN BED

MRS. MARGARET HIGGINS OF CON-
CORD STREET DIED VERY SUD-DENLY

Mrs. Margaret Higgins, aged 38 years, and residing at 244 Concord street was found dead in bed this morning by her husband, death being due to heart failure.

Mrs. Higgins seemed to be in good health yesterday and did not complain of being ill. She retired at her usual hour and when her husband awoke this morning, shortly before 6 o'clock he spoke to his wife but received no answer. He then found she had breathed her last. Deceased, who was a prominent member of the immaculate Conception church leaves to mourn her loss, her husband, James J., and three children. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons.

RAN OUT IN FRONT OF HIGHLAND
CAR—STRUCK BY THE FEN-
DER

Roland Stevenson, 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Stevenson of 17 South Wilder street was probably fatally injured this morning, when he was struck by an electric car at the corner of South Wilder and West street. It is feared the boy is suffering from a fracture of the skull.

As far as could be learned the little fellow attempted to cross Stevens street in front of an out-bound Highland car shortly before 11:30 o'clock, when the fender struck him, inflicting a deep scalp wound. The boy was rushed to the Lowell hospital, where it is feared he will not recover. The car was in charge of Motorman Fred McCreedy and Conductor McDermott.

BODY SERIOUSLY INJURED

A jitney automobile accident, which fortunately did not have any serious result, occurred on the Lawrence road and some 20 or 25 people had a very narrow escape from serious injury. Both machines, however, were badly damaged. The occupants of the cars were on their way to work and they were forced to have recourse to the electric trolley to complete their journey. The automobiles were of the three seat jitney type. One is the property of Joseph Lemelin, 152 Lowell street, Lawrence, while the other is owned by C. A. Folger & Co. of 293 Northampton street, Boston. Each car contained between 19 and 12 passengers. The machines were headed for Lowell and were being driven abreast at a fair rate of speed. When at a spot

GEORGE P. GREEN DEAD

WELL KNOWN BUSINESS MAN
PASSED AWAY AT HIS HOME
LAST EVENING

The many friends of Geo. P. Green, one of Lowell's best known business men, will be deeply pained to learn of his death which occurred quite unexpectedly at his home, 259 Walker st., last night after an illness of only a few days. He complained of not feeling well on Thursday and went to his home and his illness speedily took on a critical aspect. It was due to acute intestinal trouble.

Mr. Green was a native of Lowell and since leaving school had been identified with the plumbing business. For many years he was accountant for the plumbing firm of Farrell & Conaton and afterward entered business on his own account as a member of the firm of Drury & Green. Subsequently, the partnership was dissolved and Mr. Green continued in business with a shop in Middle street. He was a member of the Vesper Country club, the Knights of Columbus, and was president of the Holy Name society of St. Margaret's parish, having been deeply interested in the affairs of the Highlands parish since its establishment. Before marriage he resided on South street with his mother, who passed away many years ago. He is survived by a widow who was Miss Nellie Lynch, four children, Heland, George, Ellen and Elizabeth. He was widely known and universally respected and his death will be deeply mourned by a large circle of friends and business acquaintances. A notice of the funeral appears in another column.

LEGARE SERIOUSLY ILL

MAN INJURED IN RUNAWAY ACCI-DENT SATURDAY IN DANGEROUS CONDITION

Frank Legare, boss painter for the public building department of the city of Lowell, who was injured in a runaway accident in Fifth street last Friday, is reported as being on the dangerous list at St. John's hospital, where he has been confined since the accident. His injuries consist of abrasions about the face and head and scalp wounds, and at first it was not thought they were of a serious nature, but this morning Mr. Legare's relatives were sent for and a priest was called to his bedside. He was in a high fever and it was feared he might not recover. It was learned this afternoon that his condition had improved somewhat, however, and tomorrow the services of a specialist will be secured in an effort to save the young man's life.

FUNERALS

THICK—The funeral of Wong Thick, the young man who committed suicide by shooting in the head with a 33 calibre revolver Saturday morning, took place this afternoon from the funeral parlors of Undertaker W. H. Saunders in Hurd street, and was largely attended. Services were held at the First Baptist church by church street with Rev. Mr. Archibald as the officiating clergyman. The bearers were four friends of deceased. Burial took place in Westview cemetery, under the direction of Undertaker W. H. Saunders.

between Elms and Kenwood on the state highway shortly after 6 o'clock, an automobile owned by Friend Bros. was met.

The Fenger car in order to avoid a collision with Friend Bros' machine, was driven a little to the right and it so doing one of the rear tires suffered a blow-out, the tire and rim rolling into the road. The driver lost control of his machine and the big car was about to crash into the embankment on the side of the road, when the Lowell auto, which could not be brought to a full stop, hit the machine on the side, turning it completely around.

There was almost a panic among the passengers of both cars, which counted a number of women and many attempted to jump for their lives, but they were prevented from doing so by cool-headed passengers. The two cars were finally brought to a full stop before any of the passengers were thrown out. The passengers alighted and boarded electric cars for Lowell. The two jitneys were left on the road, both being badly damaged. The other cars' radiator was badly smashed, while the brakes were also put out of commission.

There will be a special meeting of Lowell council, No. 72, Knights of Columbus, this evening at 8 o'clock to take action on the death of our late Brother George P. Green.

11 German Warships Sunk in Gulf
of Riga—German Submarine Sunk
Off Ostend by the French—Turkish
Collier and German Levant Line
Steamer Sent to Bottom by British

LONDON, Aug. 23, 12.17 p. m.—The capitals of the entente allies are jubilant today over the unexpected naval victory which the Russians, according to their accounts, have won in the Gulf of Riga. England had more than a sympathetic interest in the battle as a British submarine accounted for the German battle cruiser Moltke, the loss of which, added to the destruction of two cruisers, eight torpedo boats and four transports, constitutes the greatest naval disaster suffered by Germany during the war.

For the last week both Petrograd and Berlin have been sending meagre reports of naval operations in the Gulf of Riga, which were interpreted to mean that Germany was attempting to land forces for the purpose of supporting the left flank of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg in his efforts to overrun the whole of Courland and thereby establish his armies along the coast route to the Russian capital.

Decisive Victory
The official Russian report, claiming a decisive victory for the allies, together with the expulsion of the surviving units of the German naval forces from the gulf contains few details in addition to an enumeration of

DUNSLEY NOT ARMED

BRITISH ADMIRALTY SAYS STEAM-

WAS UNARMED

LONDON, Aug. 23, 1.33 p. m.—The admiralty today authorized a denial of the report that the steamer Dunsley, torpedoed shortly before the Arabic was sunk, was an armed patrol. The admiralty states the Dunsley was a peaceful and unarmed trader.

Survivors of the Dunsley stated yesterday that she was torpedoed just before the Arabic was sunk and that the German submarine hid behind the Dunsley to lie in wait for the Arabic.

HOLD-UP MAN STILL AT LARGE

There was a case of mistaken identity in Lowell today and just for that a police officer and bartender are getting all the "kidding" that is coming to them, and a little more. A bartender unfortunate enough to resemble the man who shot up the saloon in Broadway Saturday night was arrested and taken to the police station. He is a good natured fellow and went along with the officer without asking any specific questions. He remarked, however, that he thought there was a mistake somewhere and when he got to the police station the man in charge looked him over and asked him what he wanted.

"I would like to ask what I am wanted for," said the man under arrest.

"We don't want you for anything. You may go," and then the arresting officer got his. "No need to mention names."

Children Perished in Flood Waters

The damage to crops in White river bottoms will be enormous as thousands of acres of the most fertile land is flooded.

The steamers Muskogee and Mary G. Lucas are running day and night rescuing families from the overflowed districts. Hundreds of head of stock driven out of the bottoms by the waters are roaming the streets of Newport and vicinity.

INTERRED AT AMHERST

Reports Germans Confined in a Brick
Oven at Nova Scotia—Germans Will Retaliate

BERLIN, Aug. 23, via London, 3 p. m.—As the result of increasingly serious reports concerning the treatment of German civilian prisoners interned at Amherst, Nova Scotia, according to which men housed in an unventilated and unsanitary factory building have been punished for attempted escape and less serious infractions of the rules by confinement in a brick oven, the German authorities are now contemplating retaliatory measures against Canadians, both soldiers and civilians, imprisoned here. Approximately 700 Germans are now interned at Amherst.

OFFICIALLY DENIED

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 23.—It is officially stated here that the reports of ill treatment of Germans at the Amherst internment camp, contained in a story from Berlin today, are without foundation. There were 87 men originally interned there, most of them from German cruisers sunk early in the war. They were comfortably housed, it is stated, fed with Canadian military rations, and given no work or duties. On objection of some of the naval officers to being quartered with ordinary seamen the former were removed to Halifax.

CASE WILL THEN BE DE-

This official announcement was given out by Secretary Tumulty after a conference with President Wilson. Mr. Tumulty said the statement was all he was authorized to say.

NO WARNING GIVEN

LONDON, Aug. 23, 1.30 p. m.—Supplementing official information given out previously concerning the sinking of the Arabic, the British admiralty today made the following announcement:

CHASED AND ARRESTED

EXCITING CHASE BY OFFICER
SWANWICK WHO CAPTURED
HIS MAN

There was great excitement in Merrimack, Kirk, John and Lee streets at about three o'clock this afternoon when a hot chase ensued between police officers and two fellows who were evidently not willing to be arrested. The officers on the job were Swanwick, Sheridan and Lee and the fellow captured by Swanwick put up quite a battle. It seems that the fellow has been hanging around a saloon on Swanwick's beat for the last two or three days and the officer warned him several times, but instead of obeying he went to the warnings, the fellow would go out in the street and dare the officer to arrest him. The fellow was a good sprinter and when the officer went after him he would run away. Today, however, the officer came up behind him in Merrimack street near Kirk street. The fellow caught sight of the officer when the latter was very near him. Then the chase was on. The pursued one went to Kirk street and the officer succeeded in overhauling him at or near the high school. A squabble took place in which the fellow under arrest came out second best. The second fellow was arrested by Lee and Sheridan and did not offer any resistance. The streets were lined with people when the race was on and there was great interest everywhere because it was reported that the fellow pursued by Officer Swanwick was none other than the fellow wanted for shooting up the barroom in Broadway Saturday night. But that wasn't so. The fellow wanted by Swanwick was wanted for drunkenness and using abusive language to an officer.

JAPAN RUSHES TO AID OF RUSSIANS IN WAR

Tokio despatches announce that Japan has decided to give Russia greater assistance in prosecuting the war. Russian Naval Victory

Germany's naval losses in the recent operations in the Gulf of Riga and the Baltic were "one of the most powerful and drenching of the German fleet," two cruisers and eight torpedo boats, according to the Russian admiralty statement today. It had been previously announced in Petrograd that the big vessel sunk was the battle cruiser Moltke, sent to the bottom in the Baltic by a British submarine.

Russians Lost Gunboat

The only Russian loss mentioned in Petrograd's account of the Gulf of Riga engagements was that of the gunboat Sivuch, sunk after an unequal fight with the German cruiser and torpedo craft, after accounting for two German torpedo boats.

FILTRATION PLANT SUIT SHORTAGE IN ACCOUNTS

CITY SUED FOR INFRINGING ON PATENTS—PLAINTIFF'S PETITION GRANTED IN MINNEAPOLIS

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Aug. 22.—Holding that the city of Minneapolis in the construction of its $1,000,000 municipal filtration plant was infringing on two of the patent rights of Ira H. Jewell of Chicago, Judge Wilbur F. Booth of the federal district court has handed down a decision granting the plaintiff's petition for a permanent injunction restraining the city of Minneapolis from operating the filtration plant and ordering an accounting in damages and for the plaintiff's costs and disbursements in the litigation which began two and a half years ago. Two alternatives are possible. The city may change the entire system of its plant. If this is not done the city may pay royalties to Mr. Jewell. The Minneapolis council has convened a number of water engineers and patent attorneys before deciding to build the plant, despite the protests of Mr. Jewell. The two patents which are held to have been infringed are the "filter bottom" and the "control system," the latter regulating the amount of water delivered and the washing system. About four months were required to collect the testimony and five days were spent in arguing the case. The record in the case was more than 3000 printed pages, and the court had the case under advisement for about thirteen months. Minneapolis is said to have spent approximately $30,000 in fighting the suit. The restraining order did not go into immediate effect owing to the hardship that would be produced by the lack of water. C. C. Paul, who is handling the case for the city, has announced that he would appeal to the United States circuit court of appeals.

LADY LOOKABOUT

Everyone who goes to the country in summer or who takes country walks, should know the poison ivy. Its color as the season advances, ranges from a light spring green, to a deep glossy green. The leaves grow in clusters of three, which is its most distinguishing feature. It may be seen by the roadside almost anywhere, climbing by roots over rocks and ascending trees. At the present time, closely packed clusters of small green berries may be seen growing from the axils of the leaves. Later, these berries as they ripen turn a grayish white. The plant is a most noxious and extremely susceptible to its poison, often becoming infected by merely passing it by when the wind is blowing over it. Others may handle it with impunity. It causes a most painful swelling and irritation to the skin, and although its fumes gradually disappear, in some cases it has been known to be recurrent. It is a vile pest, and while I am not one of the young ladies who settled themselves comfortably in the midst of a bed of it for a quiet chat while visiting at a nearby summer camp, with results almost tragic, I would gladly lend my assistance to a movement inaugurated to rid our country roadsides of its presence.

Woman's Suffrage

President Wilson has promised to the citizens of New Jersey, his home state a public expression of his position in the matter of woman suffrage. His statement is to be given in October, just prior to the state election, and, needless to say, it will carry great weight throughout the country, as it should. At the present moment he holds as never before the confidence of the entire people, and we may be sure that his position in regard to the suffrage is the result of deep study and much thought, based only by his firm conviction of what is the greatest good for the greatest number. At the same time, I have always felt that his opinion expressed before both houses of congress during the session just closed, when the advocates of the measure attempted to settle the question by enfranchising the women of the country by constitutional amendment, in which he stated that he considered it matter to be settled by the states individually, did much to influence legislation against the movement. The negro was enfranchised by amendment to the federal constitution, although his residence was confined practically to the southern states. His enfranchisement was considered a question of national moment. The American woman, however, must fight her way to political equality, step by step, suffering rebuff after rebuff, through the general courts of forty-eight states. When we consider that she is the mother, the wife, the sweetheart, the daughter of the very men who are compelling her to make this hard struggle, who refuse to see in her a political equal, can you consider us unfair when we charge discrimination? Listen to us with open minds, give us a square deal, and we will do the rest.

Kipling's Latest

In a review I have just read of Mr. Kipling's latest story, "Post-race," the author is supposed to have expressed the true Englishman's ideal of woman's mission on earth when he makes his heroine exclaim, "Woman's place is to be and to do." Does it not sound like something an Englishman would say? It is such a solid remark. There is nothing subtle there. Yet its true significance eludes me. What is she to be, and what for whom? Is she to do? Is it not baffling? Yet he has settled to his own satisfaction, the problem of ages. I never can forgive Mr. Kipling for calling us "a rag, a bone, and a hank of hair," and although he partially retrieved himself in his "Mother," the hurt of the former always shall remain, and for that reason I for one

ATTACKED WHILE ASLEEP

YOUNG BRADBURY MURDEROUSLY ASSAULTED WHILE ASLEEP IN TENT

OLDTOWN, Me., Aug. 22.—Shardand W. Bradbury, aged 18, son of Ex-Mayor Dr. Arthur J. Bradbury, was murderously assaulted about midnight Saturday night in a tent on the lawn at his home on Brunswick street. He was struck three heavy blows on the head with a cobblestone, inflicting deep and severe cuts, and last night his condition was considered dangerous.

The outcries evidently scared away his assailant and awakened a neighbor, C. A. Saunders, who says he saw a man run from the street and disappear in the darkness. It is believed that another blow would have been fatal to the young man. A stone weighing nearly two pounds was found in the tent.

Young Bradbury is a most exemplary young man, and known to no one with a word against him. The assault is supposed to be the work of a mental incompetent. The police have been investigating the case, but have no definite clues.

It is believed that an attempt was made by the same person last Saturday night to assault Anna Brown, a daughter of Mr. James W. Brown, who sleeps in a tent on the same street. He retired rather late Sunday evening, and found on his cot a heavy blowdown of hardwood, evidently thrown there, as a member of the family who was in the tent a few hours before says it was not there at that time.

FOUR KINDS OF BOMBS

"Hair Brush," the "Cricket Ball," the "Policeman's Club" and the "Jam Tin" Used

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The various kinds of bombs now being used in France and Flanders are described by an English officer in a letter from the front. They are, he says, four main types, the "hair brush," the "cricket ball," the "police man's club" and the "jam tin." The "hair brush," explains the writer, "is very like the ordinary hair brush, except that the bristles are replaced by a solid block of high explosive. The 'police man's club' has a ray streamer of tinfoil tied to its tail, to ensure that it falls to the ground nose downward. Both these bombs explode on impact, and it is inadvisable to knock them against anything—say the back of the trench—when throwing them.

"The 'cricket ball' works by a time fuse. The removal of a certain pin releases a spring which starts an internal fuse timed to explode the bomb in five seconds. You take the bomb in your right hand, remove the pin, and cast the thing madly from you.

"The 'jam tin' variety appeals more particularly to the sportsman, as the element of chance enters largely into its successful use. It is timed to explode about 10 seconds after the lighting of the fuse. It is, therefore, unwise to throw it too soon, as there would be ample time for your opponent to pick it up and throw it back. On the other hand, it is unwise to hold on to long, as the fuse is uncertain in its action and is given to short cuts."

The French Maid Says:

Marjorie Gets a Bath

"Father brought me home a parrot that a friend of his brought all the way from South America, just for me," exclaimed Marjorie. Then doubtfully: "Just what does one do to train a parrot, Marie?"

"I am not just sure myself," answered Marie smiling. "It is rather out of my line. However, I do know that such birds as parrots may often be kept occupied and amused after showing signs of a restless mood, by giving them some small object to play with a piece of stick or clothespin, or anything which might serve as a toy will do; but care should be taken that they are not offered anything which might prove injurious if swallowed, since birds in a state of confinement do not, it would seem, always exercise their natural instincts in rejecting that which is harmful to them.

"It should be kept in mind that isolation for any but a short length of time is apt to make a bird unhappy, especially if the surroundings are unfamiliar, one of the troubles of the feathered creature under these conditions being the terror it feels on seeing new things and from which it cannot escape. For this reason a bird is always more contented in cage life if there are others with it or near it, even though they are not of its own species.

"That instinct which leads birds to keep in flocks as much as possible, is probably owing to the feeling that in numbers there is safety, or safety comparatively, and the fear of unknown objects, as well as the recognized dangers, is thereby lessened."

Milady's Boudoir

The Daily Bath

Some women think they are doing an especially good thing for their beauty and health by taking a warm bath every day, and if they find time, even twice. The result of their indulgence is a constant catching cold, for they treat their skin very much like they would the butcher's beef. Others will adhere to the opposite habit; that is to use cold water principally either in the shape of cold plunges, sprays or sponge baths. If both were used the result would be perfect.

There is nothing more stimulating to the circulation of the blood, nothing that will harden the skin so much as the change of temperature from the use of cold water. Only, and that is the secret of it, the cold spray should come after the warm bath if you insist on taking one every day. Skin will be skin, whether the inner organs are dainty or coarse, whether red or "blue" blood circulates through it. The one rule stands good for all with the exception of the father's age, her physical condition and the action of her heart. The latter should also decide the temperature of the warm bath, which, as a rule, ought to be only mildly warm, not boiling except in the case of a heavy cold, just in its first stage. There are only a few people who can stand the strain on the heart of an extremely hot bath without feeling too exhausted or too excited after it.

At any rate a rest is required after any hot bath to get the good out of it, which is to animate and regulate the circulation of the blood and the opening of the pores to freer circulation and greater action.

WILLIAMS WENT GOOD

LOWELL TOOK EARLY LEAD AND HELD IT AGAINST FITCHBURG

Howard Williams, otherwise called "Cy," was in fine form in Saturday's game and at no time did Fitchburg look at all formidable. On the other hand Lowell took so kindly to Mulrenan when the latter succeeded in getting them over that Manager McConne wisely took him out, substituting Press who did fairly well. A large gathering of fans saw Lowell take its eighth victory in 10 games but the contest was so one-sided that there was little of an exciting nature. Munn and Dee were the batting stars of the occasion. Young Uncle Munn getting a hit each time up while Shorley's hits were there when men were on bases.

Moulton was the fielding star, pulling off a catch of a foul fly in right field, running in between Swayne and Munn to get it that was a corker and made the fans stand up and cheer. Manager Ketcher was much in evidence on the bench lines and as usual made a big hit with the crowd.

Manager McConne appeared to be short-handed, having only 10 men with him, not including a somewhat overgrown mascot in a Fitchburg uniform who might have been counted in as a player in a pinch.

The score.

FRANK DID NOT CONFESS

Death Facts Revealed—Tried to Lynch Frank "Legally"—Held Deed Sacred Duty

ATLANTA, Aug. 23.—The first actual story of all that took place on the death ride of Leo M. Frank from Marietta to Marietta between midnight and dawn last Tuesday morning, became available to the Associated Press yesterday. The recital came in a manner which seemingly placed its authenticity beyond all question.

The narrator, however, will not be a witness before the Cobb County grand jury which on Sept. 7 will be asked to undertake a thorough investigation of the lynching of the man alleged to have been the slayer of little Mary Phagan. It also became known yesterday that Gov. Nat. D. Harris during the past few days has received several anonymous threatening letters purporting to warn him not to go "too far" in his investigation of the lynching. The governor is not inclined to take the letters seriously.

The inside story of the events which preceded the finding of Frank's lifeless body swaying from the limb of the big oak tree clearing up many phases of the traffic incident which heretofore have been veiled in mystery. Points asserted by the narrator were:

First—Frank did not confess. He twice was asked if he had anything to say, but on each occasion replied "No." Asked pointedly if he killed the Phagan girl, he is said to have made no reply whatever.

Second—No attempt was made to force a confession. Frank's statement, just prior to his death, that he loved his wife and mother better than he did his life, came unexpectedly and without questioning.

Third—Frank was not maltreated in any way prior to the actual lynching. Stories that he may have met violent death before he was hanged to the Gray oak are without foundation.

Fourth—Frank walked 200 yards from the automobile to the death tree without a faltering step, without a sigh or a remembrance of a protest. Fearing, perhaps, that his body might never reach his relatives, he asked that the wedding ring he wore be delivered to a newspaperman with the solemn promise that it would be turned over to his wife. This wish was carried out.

Fifth—Frank was told from the start that he was to be executed as the courts had directed that he be, and every effort was made by the so-called "vigilance committee" to see that the "legal hanging" as they termed the lynching, was carried out in an orderly manner.

Members of the "vigilance committee" are said to resent any intimation that Frank was "maltreated" while in their custody. They assert he was given exactly the same consideration usually given to a condemned man on the day of his execution. The rough handling of the body after it was cut down was a matter concerning which the members of the "committee" feel they were not responsible.

Sixth—The members of the "vigilance committee" felt they had a sacred duty to perform in "carrying out the mandate of the courts of the state and of the United States." There was no mob spirit, no demonstration, and there is said to have been no idea of hanging Frank in the public square of Marietta or in the cemetery where Mary Phagan lies buried. There was, however, a determination that the execution should take place in Cobb county. Inasmuch as all the members of the "committee" are said to be residents of Cobb county, the reason for this is obvious.

Seventh—Automobiles were required to transport the "vigilance committee" from Marietta to Marietta. Only four returned, including the car in which Frank rode. All the machines were cars of a popular make. These cars were specially selected because of difficulty in identifying them. No car of conspicuous design or color was wanted. There were probably 25 men in the lynching party.

SALOON HOLDUP

Gunman in Broadway Saloon—Drove Out Clerks and Patrons

One of the most daring holdups heard of in this city for a long time occurred Saturday evening in a Broadway saloon, when a man armed with a rifle walked into the place and drove everyone to cover, put the lights out with a gun shot and slowly filed himself with the best liquor in the shop, sampling all the better grades on tap. This happened shortly before 11 o'clock and the place entered was the liquor shop of Mr. Droney. The man entered the saloon with a rifle over his shoulder and ordered everyone to step aside. The matter was at first taken as a joke and in order to show that he meant business, the man with the rifle fired one shot at the lights placing the saloon in total darkness.

There was much confusion as the door on the part of the many customers while the clerks in charge of the establishment ducked under the counter. The gunman then slowly marched to the rear of the bar and helped himself to a number of drinks. Later he went out without leaving his name and the police are now searching for him. He did not attempt to take any money. It was stated this morning that the police have a clew which will soon lead to the arrest of the highway man.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
"Marion Covington," a wonderfully interesting story of the South, with Edward Connelly starring, will be the feature attraction in the bill for the first three days of the week at Keith's theatre. The play is in five acts and more than 400 scenes and is classed as one of the stellar outputs by the new and ambitious distributing company, the Metro Pictures corporation. It is taken from the book and stage play of the same name and is from the pen of the brilliant author, George Ade. Southern atmosphere and environment added greatly to the general enjoyment of the production, while the interpretation of the several characters engaged are as true to the life of the south as it is possible to be. Mr. Connelly, appearing as "Covington Hall," has been a true southern gentleman, who has but one fault, that of gambling, is seen at his best, while the supporting cast is equally well fitted to do the duty of the play. The production is a masterpiece of the screen, and is a masterpiece of the stage. The production is a masterpiece of the screen, and is a masterpiece of the stage. MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE
The opening performance of the Famous Players Film company's master photo-play, "Helene of the North," just released on the Paramount program will be seen at the Merrimack Square theatre this afternoon and evening with the charming, adorable Marguerite Clark in the title role. This absorbing story of the real life and original theme. The first scene is that of a drawing room in which there is a fashionable gathering of people, some of whom are telling the most interesting and brilliant of tales. Helene is asked to relate hers and she does. What she tells them which so holds their rapt attention is a story of a girl who set pictures before the eyes of the audience. She brings them up to the sylvan solitudes of the great Canadian woods where she lived through her first and only romance. She tells them how she loved a stalwart youth up there and how a half breed came to love her. The realization of their love impossible. Just before he was sent away on a secret mission they were married and she never saw him again. The story is a masterpiece of the screen, and is a masterpiece of the stage. The production is a masterpiece of the screen, and is a masterpiece of the stage.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC
Lowell people today have an opportunity for the first time of seeing Miss Irene Fenwick, the sprightly New York star, in "The Spendthrift," which will be produced at the Academy of Music three days, with matinees. "The Spendthrift" gives opportunity for some very interesting action, and the display of many beautiful gowns. It presents New York society life, with Miss Fenwick portraying the extravagant Frances Ward, who has absolutely no conception of money and who through her extravagance brings on a lot of trouble for her family. Dress is one channel of money spending. Mrs. Ward knows no limit in the matter of dress extravagance, and the gowns she wears in the natural course of the story, are bewilderingly beautiful and tell better than words her tendencies. Miss Fenwick is supported by a company that includes Cyril Knott, Siles Ferguson and Malcolm Duncan. In addition to "The Spendthrift" will be seen "The Riddle of the Rings," a Kalem masterpiece. The Academy of Music is thoroughly renovated and the stage settings have been entirely changed. The screen is well back of the proscenium, offering a perfect perspective to those who hold their seats extra close to the occupying seats more remote. The management will maintain the policy adopted last season—the best and only the best, regardless of cost.

CANOE LAKE PARK

also offered. To a large number of people, however, an engagement of Miss Anna Leary of Lowell will be a most interesting feature of the program. In a number of pretty songs and dances Miss Leary is expected to give a host of merriment during her engagement. Recently Miss Leary was engaged to appear in a feature motion picture production introducing one of her many dancing specialties, the film of which will soon be shown throughout this country entitled "Wish-laria."

POP HOP AT STANLEY'S
A "Pop Hop"—Something new in the way of entertainment—will be the attraction at Stanley's in the Merrimack tonight. James E. O'Grady, H. J. Kea, and Harold Proctor will assist in providing a program of race merit, and besides there will be dancing all evening. The price of admission will be 25 cents for men and 15 for ladies, with dancing free all evening. If you do not wish to throw away a grand opportunity for an evening's enjoyment, on Thursday night Manager Carney has engaged, at extra expense, four stellar cabaret performers from the Casino Gardens, the best pleasure spots in the state, where dancing, under ideal conditions may be enjoyed every afternoon and evening. The playhouse features are not found at any of the other resorts. The car ride to Stanley's is one of the many enjoyable features. Try it once.

LAKEVIEW PARK
The bicycle bugs in the city that Reid & Alma style themselves and they present a novel and unique comedy bicycle act which will be the free attraction at Lakeview park for the week commencing Aug. 23. Miss Alma is a handsome and stately young woman who is an expert on the wheel as well as a clever juggler while her partner, Gus Reid is one of the best bicycle performers in vaudeville. They wear handsome costumes and perform many difficult tricks on the wheel. Reid and Alma have just finished a two weeks' engagement at Paragon park as a special feature attraction, and will appear at Lakeview every afternoon and evening the week of Aug. 23. At the theatre there will be the usual excellent moving picture program, pictures that are shown in Lowell for the first time. The program is a masterpiece of the screen, and is a masterpiece of the stage. The production is a masterpiece of the screen, and is a masterpiece of the stage.

OWL THEATRE
A play of mystery and romance is offered as the leading attraction at the Owl theatre for today and tomorrow. Lionel Barrymore, the actual star in "The Romance of Elaine," and who is a member of the famous Barrymore family of actors, will be starred in the leading role of "The Curious Conduct of Judge Legarde," as the dual Judge Legarde. The story is taken from the pen of Victor Marges, noted dramatist and writer. Judge Legarde is kicked in the head by his horse and his mind is unbalanced. One evening, while his sweetheart is playing Schubert's Serenade, he undergoes a wonderful transformation. Disfigured, unrecognizable, he rushes to the "Lone Duck," a famous rendezvous of the most desperate criminals in the city. His present state of mind all he cares for is to murder, rob and commit acts of violence. Each morning finds him home, transformed to his better self. The phenomena is discovered later on by his prospective father-in-law, who engages a noted specialist. A cure is effected by the use of a scientific nursing and still more careful scientific doctoring restore him to his good former self. A delightful romance is the sequel of this peculiar transformation in the mind of the judge. Five other Mutual films will complete the performance for today and tomorrow. Charles Chaplin will also be starred in "Kestrel," a comedy. It is doubtful the Owl will always settle the doubt of the best pictures in Lowell.

POLICE MAKE 39TH RAID

EIGHT SUNDAY VISITS IN QUEST OF ILLEGALLY SOLD LIQUOR MADE BY BROCKTON POLICE

BROCKTON, Aug. 23.—The police conducted eight more raids yesterday, making 39 since last Sunday, the largest in one week in the history of the city. The liquor inspectors claim they are going to make a clean sweep from Montello to Campello and expect to keep up the crusade for weeks, if necessary.

The raids yesterday included one at the house of Charles Wolfe, 176 School street, where inspectors Allen and Long found one quart of ale. The same inspectors also raided a store conducted by Wolfe at 174 School St. and found 15 gallons of ale and 70 empty ale bottles, and also a store conducted by Wolfe and Isaac Sargman, where they seized one quart of whisky. Other raids were as follows:

Inspectors Chase and Groce and Patrolman Sullivan, premises of Lewis Zelluch, 184 Ames street, one gallon of ale; inspectors Allen and Long, premises of Nathan Specter, 155 Crescent street, one gallon of whisky. Two raids were unsuccessful.

HE DESERTED TWO WIVES

ALLEGED THAT BROCKTON MAN HAS TWO FAMILIES—MAY BRING BIGAMY CHARGE

BROCKTON, Aug. 23.—The discovery by Police Inspector O. A. Saunders of this city that the George Farling he saw in the Dauphin county jail, Pennsylvania, charged with non-support of a wife and child in that state, is the man who deserted a wife and six children in this city three years ago, has caused a sensation here. His first wife, who has lived here since he deserted her, has had a pretty hard time of it.

There seems to be no doubt about the identity of Farling, for his father, who lives on East Ashland street, received a photograph recently from the second wife, of her husband and the 21 months' old baby, and samples of his writing. At the time Mrs. Farling No. 2 was trying to establish her husband's identity after he deserted her. She lives in Lehigh, Pa., near Harrisburg, where she married Farling about three months after he deserted his first wife. The inquiries of wife No. 2 came to the knowledge of wife No. 1 and the police. So, as Inspector Saunders was going to Harrisburg, he was asked to look at Farling in the Dauphin county jail. He identified him, and it is probable that a charge of bigamy will be brought against the latter.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

Lowell Herd No. 10, Benevolent Order of Buffaloes, held a regular and well attended meeting in Odd Fellows building, Middlesex street, with President James A. Crockett in the chair. The organization committee gave a very interesting report and Dr. Wesley Sawyer, chairman of the committee, feels sure that fifty new members will be taken in during the next two months.

The outing committee has arranged plans to bring the other herds of the order to Lowell and have a state round-up in the near future. Gloucester, Beverly, Worcester, Malden, Quincy and Lynn have all signified their intention of being here to participate in the outing which will be held in the near future.

During the evening a ball committee was appointed with Dr. P. Mussey chairman to take care of the annual ball and the general opinion is that it will be held much earlier than last year. Supreme Trustee James E. Hughes of the local herd gave a very interesting report of his recent trip to Boston in attending to a supreme executive board meeting and his remarks indicated that the supreme body is about to start an organizing campaign that will surpass anything ever attempted before by the order. The very efficient relief committee made a pleasing report as did also Treasurer W. W. Murphy. On the good and welfare of the order remarks were made by Robert M. Dempsey, James Buckley, William Barber and W. W. Murphy. At the close of the meeting an instrumental and vocal program was given under the direction of Pianist J. Edward Lamb and it was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

GEORGIA'S EXCUSE

The condemnation of the Georgia mob which has been voiced by practically every other state in the country has called forth some apologies and explanations which reveal the Georgia state of mind. This state of mind is very different from that of the north, but one cannot correctly understand the reason for the popular hysteria against Frank without taking it into account.

In the first place, Georgia seems to have the mistaken notion that it is more zealous for the honor of women than other states. Southern chivalry has been made a fetish until the ignorant part of the public takes it on itself to avenge anything that looks like an affront to woman—when the woman is white. Wrongs against colored women, and at the hands of white men, do not arouse any degree of virtuous indignation. The Georgia mob decided that only the death of Frank would avenge the crime attributed to him, and no other punishment would serve to cool the aroused southern blood.

Again there is great hostility to outside interference, or what looks like interference. With true southern pride, Georgia considers itself humiliated by any attempt at dictation from other states. This spirit manifested itself strongly in opposition to Detective Burns and his agents who it now appears were threatened with death, when they sought to prove Frank's innocence. The entire south contends that they are misunderstood by the north, and they often complain of laws made by congress which, they say, injure the true interests of southern states. Prejudice has been fostered so long as to be an inborn trait of the unthinking classes.

In the Frank case, the feeling that the Jews of the country were working for Frank's release and that Governor Slaton was determined from the first to pardon him, operated to his doom. This accounts for the ghoulish satisfaction which broke out when the fury of the mob was satiated. It also accounts for the fact that though many leading men of Georgia strive to palliate public opinion, the Georgia rabble glories in its shame. Where there is passion and prejudice there is neither justice nor judgment.

THE MILK STANDARD

As the result of activity on the part of the local milk inspector and his assistant, thirteen local milk dealers will appear before the court in a short time, six on the charge of having watered milk in their possession and the other seven on the charge of having milk below the standard. Many of those to be prosecuted are not producers of milk and only act as agents, selling milk secured from other sections.

The local milk inspectors are to be congratulated for their active interest in their work as demonstrated by this condition, but it should be ascertained if possible whether the alleged infractions of the law are deliberate or unavoidable. Complaints from milk dealers are heard all over the state, many declaring that with the unfavorable weather conditions it is next to impossible to keep milk quite up to the standard.

The heavy rainfall of the past months has made grazing bad, from the point of view of the milk producer, and without proper food for cattle, milk will be poor. It may be, therefore, that much of the watered condition of the milk is due to natural causes, and with such weather as we have had it is hardly fair to insist on the letter of hard and fast rules. When we have a poor farming year, vegetables, fruit, etc., are not quite up to the standard, and the people accept it philosophically; when milk is below the standard, we insist on prosecutions, though the dealer may be innocent of any deliberate intent to defraud or to take unfair advantage of the consumer.

Where dealers deliberately water milk, or sell milk that is needlessly inferior, they should be prosecuted, as nothing is more important to the public health than a pure milk supply. We should not, however, make it so hard for the milk producer or dealer to profit by his industry that the milk business of Massachusetts shall deteriorate further. Governor Walsh in a recent veto showed that much agitation against milk dealers was unwise; let us prosecute by all means when prosecution is desirable, but let us not persecute.

WHY THE CENSORSHIP?

One can well understand why the British censor should cut out details of military engagements, lists of dead on battlefields, location of ships and troops, etc., but what was the reason for the strict censorship exercised over the reports of the loss of the Arabie? Eventually all the main facts will leak out and nothing is to be gained by postponing revelations. The very fact of the censorship engenders suspicion and operates against the English attitude. According to the story of Captain Fitch, the liner was sunk when going to the aid of the Dunsley, and no warning was given. The government of this country cannot take action until the German side of the story is heard, and nothing is to be gained by strict censorship on either side. It now looks as though Germany has no justification for the act, but if the facts are ultimately reported change the original aspect of the case, the reaction will be all the greater because of the censorship which the British government exercised.

Incidentally, it may be added that the censorship methods of England have been persistently criticized there since the war started, and it has often been stated by press and public that it was injurious rather than the contrary. English reverses have been concealed, and the loss of ships has been admitted only when it could be no longer kept from the public. The English public knew nothing about the shortage of ammunition until it was stated in parliament, and while frantic efforts were being made for recruits, the English papers were re-echoing great British victories and predicting an optimistic outlook. When so much criticism of the censorship is heard in England, we may be pardoned for some curiosity as to why it was exercised so strongly in the case of the Arabie. It may be that the English government is not wholly blameless.

WHAT WAS GAINED?

It is very hard for the ordinary observer to see what Germany has gained by the sinking of the Arabie, while it is very easy to see grave possibilities that might prove the outrage to have been a colossal blunder, even from the German point of view. At the time of the attack the liner was purely a passenger ship, engaged in legitimate trade; no ammunition was aboard and the cargo was not one that would benefit England to any extent. To be sure, a great liner—one of a group competing with German lines—was put out of commission, but so far as the actual conduct of war is concerned, there was no advantage in sending her to the bottom. Even though it must be admitted that the Arabie would be a freight ship on the return trip, laden with munitions of war, Germany could have waited until a more propitious time before launching the fatal torpedo. This is apparently realized in Berlin as shown by the conservatism with which the incident is referred to, and the request that the German papers refrain from commenting on it for the present.

While Germany appears contemptuous and indifferent to the attitude of this country, it is scarcely to be believed that it would deliberately invite war with us. Were such the case, German propagandists would not be conducting so strenuous and costly a campaign to gain our good will. The ill feeling engendered by the Lusitania horror had largely died down, and this country had taken issue strongly with England on the detention of American ships and cargoes. It cannot be seen, therefore, how the destruction of the Arabie was other than a grave mistake on the part of Germany—unless the facts have been misstated.

STEALING A QUARTER

A few days ago a woman who works in a local store was arrested for the theft of twenty-five cents. Investigation revealed that she is the mother of five children and the main support of the family, the husband being an invalid. Her weekly wage is said to be $4.50. The store management declared that the woman received thirty cents for a sale, rang up five cents and put the quarter in her stocking. The woman declared in court that she found the quarter on the floor and secreted it instead of turning it over to the store. The case was filed and the woman was placed on probation.

Cases such as this throw a light on the conditions that exist in all large cities and show the pitiful struggle that some poor mortals are obliged to put up in order to ward off starvation and absolute misery. If this woman really is the sole support of a family of seven on a weekly wage of $4.50 or even of $5.50, one can easily understand how the sight of an extra quarter would prove a terrible temptation. We hear a great deal about the sufferings of those who work in mills and factories, but when all is weighed there may be far more cause for commiserating some of those who work in stores. It is stories such as that of the woman arrested for stealing a quarter that reconcile people to such impractical and theoretical movements as that for a minimum wage large enough to keep the workers from

The textile business as a whole has borne up well under the general strain of the war, but for months the woollen industry has not been called upon to manufacture the normal amount of material. Now a change has come, and the woollen mills in this part of the country announce large orders and prosperity ahead. All of the plants controlled by the American Woollen company in Lawrence, Manchester and near Lowell are humming with activity, many of them being forced to work night and day in order to turn out the required amount of material.

Though the cause of changed conditions is not specifically stated it is admitted in a general way that war orders are responsible for the improvement. This can only indicate that another winter campaign is contemplated by the allies. Last year, the soldiers in the trenches suffered more from cold than from the attacks of the enemy, and many traditions were shattered. England and France have made many modifications in the dress of the soldiers who are obliged to take part in trench warfare, and warm uniforms have to be provided in order to avoid the rigors of cold and exposure. As this is the only country where large orders for woollen goods can be filled at the present time, it is very probable that preparation for another winter's fighting will keep the woollen mills of America busy for some time to come.

NEW BEDFORD, Aug. 23.—Ex-Gov. William L. Douglas celebrated his 70th birthday at his summer home at Marion yesterday. The day was spent quietly by Mr. Douglas and his family at their cottage. His steam yacht was at its mooring all day, the rain and southerly wind making Buzzards Bay no pleasure spot for yachts during the day.

TRIED TO KIDNAP SON HEARD FORMER PASTOR

ALLEN GRACE TOOK SLEEPING BOY FROM HIS BED BUT WAS CAUGHT AFTER CHASE

WORCESTER, Aug. 23.—Entering the basement apartment at 18 Castle street through a rear window last night, Allen Grace of Providence, formerly of Worcester, attempted to kidnap his son, Grace, aged 13, who has been living with his mother, Grace, in the basement. He was caught by three months ago, leaving a younger child behind as well as the boy. Wrapping the boy, who was asleep, in his overcoat, Grace ran into the front court and attempted to elude his pursuers by dodging back of the buildings. The police, who were summoned by neighbors of Mrs. Grace, who heard her cries for help, caught Grace in the front court half a block from the house.

He gave the boy, who was crying for his mother, and protesting against being carried away, back to the mother. The boy was taken from his bed in his night clothing. Grace took off his own coat and wrapped it around Bruce.

Fearing that another attempt would be made to kidnap the boy, Mrs. Grace called the police again last night and requested that the house be kept under constant watch. When the police brought the boy back to her she refused to enter a complaint against her husband, but late last night wanted him placed under arrest.

Grace came to Worcester yesterday with a woman who gave her name as Helen Hall of 112 Chelsea street, Chelsea.

TAKEN FROM POWER BOAT BY HULL LIFE GUARDS—IN PERIL OFF BOSTON LIGHT

HULL, Aug. 23.—Capt. William C. Sparrow and crew of the life guard at Stony beach rescued five men from the power boat Max of Boston, which was in a dangerous position last night off the rocks at Boston Light. Through his glass Capt. Sparrow saw a man waving a torch and ordered the boat launched.

On board the Max were Capt. B. D. Dubson, J. Dubson, W. Hines, A. Blans and A. W. Brown, all of Boston. They were on a pleasure trip and on their return their engine broke down, stranding them off the light. They were brought to Stony beach and sent to Boston by steamer.

INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

THREE YOUNG MEN HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM DEATH IN AUTO ACCIDENT

George E. Cossette of St. Paul street, Edward Tremblay, 10 Bond street, Dracut, and Louis Fortier, 12 Dalton street, had a narrow escape from death when the automobile in which they were riding late Saturday afternoon, crashed into a pole. Tremblay is suffering from bruises about the head and face as a result of the accident, while the other occupants of the car were unharmed.

The machine which is owned by Mr. Cossette was being driven up Moody street by the latter. When a spot was reached near the corner of Seventh avenue, the driver lost control and the car crashed into an electric pole. Tremblay and Fortier were thrown out of the car and landed head-first on the ground. Cossette clung to the wheel. Tremblay's injuries were treated at the Lowell hospital. The automobile, which was later towed to the Moody Bridge garage, is a total wreck.

REV. D. A. WILMOTT PREACHED AT UNION CONGREGATIONAL SERVICE AT THE FIRST CHURCH

The pulpit at the First Congregational church was occupied yesterday by a former pastor, Rev. D. A. Wilmott of Roxbury. He preached at the union service in the morning and all the congregational churches of the city were represented. He spoke of the conditions that surrounded the disciples at the time when Jesus was to leave them, and of the command of Jesus "That ye love one another, even as I have loved you."

"The love of Christ," said the speaker, "is strong. It is sublime. You think, perhaps, that this teaching of Jesus is a dream, not possible to realize in this world of ours. But what has your philosophy done for the world? What has it done in business life? It has caused a grinding discontent throughout the whole of our land. It has brought the day when the many, conscious of the injustice of the law, are combining and using the same philosophy that the few use. When the many combine to crush the few, then the day of reckoning comes; and it is coming very quickly. Your philosophy is not the philosophy of Jesus; it has brought no peace in the industrial world."

"What has it done internationally, this doctrine of brute force which those men confronted in Rome? If the teaching of Jesus is an iridescent dream, then what we see in Europe is horrible nightmare. Old women tremble every night for a demon in the skies will drop a bomb upon their humble dwellings before the night is past. The Lord Christ has not had his opportunity yet; the faith of Christ has never reigned in Europe."

Jesus would have said to us that after all, ecclesiastical, or even, can never conquer the world. But a group of men living together in any community and serving that community in a spirit of love, is bound to be heard and heeded by that community. The world may not accept your creed, but it understands Jesus pretty well. So, after all, it is a question for every one of us, whether we dare to follow Jesus, whether we dare to be confident and try to really live as he would have us live, in relations of service toward one another.

The men who will be especially remembered in years to come, are not Andrew Carnegie or Rockefeller, whom we do not particularly admire except for their wealth, but Lincoln and General Booth, because they dared to live according to Christ's teaching, to incarnate in their lives this principle of love."

The preacher at the First Baptist church yesterday, Rev. Archibald A. Forshee, is pastor of the Bureau Temple Baptist church of Dorchester. He was a classmate of Rev. A. C. Archibald, and is a question for every one of us, whether we dare to follow Jesus, whether we dare to be confident and try to really live as he would have us live, in relations of service toward one another.

THREE BUILDINGS BURN

FIRE AT WEST RUTLAND, VT. CAUSES $10,000 LOSS—COVERED BY INSURANCE

RUTLAND, Vt., Aug. 23.—Fire which did $10,000 damage, burning three buildings to the ground and damaging two others, was discovered in a wooden structure in the vicinity of the former Gilson-Woodlin marble concern at West Rutland at 3:30 yesterday morning. Before the blaze was under control at 7 the Vermont Marble company's carpenter shop was in ashes. A big storeroom was destroyed, while the office building once used by the Gilson-Woodlin company was partially burned, as was the old Baxter mill and the Gilson mill.

A power house which was in the vicinity was also destroyed, but recently the marble company completed a big power house north of the burned district. In the carpenter shop were the Oregon pine derrick poles and the loss of these was $1,000.

The loss is covered by insurance. It is probable some temporary arrangement will be made and a new building for the carpenters be constructed of marble.

Companies 1, 2, 3 and 4 of the village fire department and the Vermont Marble company's department responded to the alarm. Over 225 feet of hose was laid and two streams were kept busy combating the blaze to the buildings, which were roaring furnace when the firemen arrived.

WORCESTER, Aug. 23.—Two men are in the City hospital and 10 persons are under arrest as a result of a row in two sections of the city yesterday. Razors, revolvers, blackjacks and beer bottles played an important part in causing the quarrels and arrests.

Adams, aged 37, both of whom are in the hospital suffering from stab wounds on the head, face and arms. They received their injuries, the police say, in a row that occurred in Kansas street. They were placed under arrest with Joseph Adams, Joseph Chardwin and Adolph Bickelmeier, who also received minor cuts on the face.

SLEEPYTIME TALES

THE THREE E CHILDREN

Once upon a time there were three children whose first names all began with E. The oldest was Edna, then Edward, and the youngest, little Ethel, who was only four years old. Nearly all their friends called them "the E children," and I am afraid some of the grown-ups did too. Soon after their school closed they all moved to their cottage at the seashore and the very next morning after they arrived saw them all in their bathing suits down on the beach ready for the first dip in the ocean.

Little Ethel had forgotten about the last summer and was a little afraid of the big waves. When she saw her mother dive into the water and a big wave cover her up, she began to cry and scream with all her might and kept it up in spite of her sisters telling her that it was all right and Edward laughing and calling her a "fraid cat."

When her mother came to the surface, she was arrested. They were taken from 35 Carroll street, where, according to the police, a stabbing affray took place early yesterday morning.

The Johnson woman was arrested when she was caught. In the act, the police say, of passing a bottle of liquor to Hoglund after he was placed in his cell. At least every man in the party was out on the face.

Miss Theresa Blum of Philadelphia, has the distinction of being the youngest manager of a ladies' wear specialty shop in the country.

GREAT RUSSIAN VICTORY

11 German Warships Sunk in the Gulf of Riga — Cruiser Moltke Lost

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The German fleet has quit the Gulf of Riga, after suffering a severe loss under the guns of the Russian warships in last Thursday's naval engagement.

The great battle cruiser Moltke, sister ship of the Goeben and one of the fleet's most powerful German ships, was sent to the bottom by the Russian guns. Three German cruisers and seven torpedo boats were also destroyed. The loss of the Moltke gave the Russian fleet the advantage in weight of metal, and the Germans hastily withdrew from Riga bay.

The German fleet had tried to make a landing near Pernau (Pernig), on the east shore of the Gulf of Riga, some 35 miles north of Riga. Four barges crowded with soldiers took part in the landing, German warships that were attempting to cover this landing, were promptly engaged by the Russian fleet, and the landing was repulsed by Russian troops without the support of artillery on shore.

The entire German force was exterminated and the barges were captured. The announcement of this victory of the Russian naval arm was received with great enthusiasm when it was announced in the Duma by the president yesterday. It was also announced officially by the navy office that the German fleet had left the Gulf of Riga.

In the Black Sea the Russian destroyers have been busy and so far, it was announced, they have sunk more than 100 Turkish boats.

NAVY DEPARTMENT REPORT
PETROGRAD, Aug. 23, via London, 12.30 p. m.—The recent naval battle in the Gulf of Riga is described as follows in a statement from the navy headquarters:

"The German fleet on Aug. 16 attacked with large forces its opponents on the Baltic coast. Our ships during the 16th and 17th repulsed the attacks of the enemy whose secret preparations for entering the gulf had been favored singularly by misty weather.

"Taking advantage of a thick fog, the German fleet of considerable size entered the gulf on the 15th and our vessels retired at the same time, continuing to resist the enemy without losing touch with him.

"On the 19th and 20th the enemy reconnoitered in different directions, at the same time keeping up a fight with our ships, in which their torpedo boats suffered material losses. On our side we lost the gunboat Sivutich, which perished gloriously in an unequal fight and an enemy cruiser which was escorting torpedo craft and came up to a distance of 400 yards from her. The Sivutich, enveloped in flames continued to reply shot for shot until she sank, having previously sunk enemy torpedo boats.

"In view of the loss suffered and the futility of his efforts, the enemy appears to have evacuated the Gulf of Riga on the 21st.

"Between the 16th and 21st the two enemy cruisers and no fewer than eight torpedo boats were either sunk or placed hors de combat. Singularly our gallant allies succeeded in torpedoing in the Baltic one of the most powerful dreadnaughts.

The foregoing contains no reference to the loss of the Russian gunboat Kiborets, which was said in an official German statement of Saturday to have been sunk as well as the Sivutich.

Cortell had been arrested on a charge of assault. He had been traveling around the country with the boy. They told conflicting stories and were ordered held. Cortell, officials said, probably would be charged with abduction.

The boy recognized his mother immediately, although he was only four years old when he disappeared from home.

LOWELL MAN ARRESTED

Kenneth Lipps of This City Charged With Stealing Two Automobiles

Harry J. Roberts, a well known member of Tabors Sixth Regiment band, led yesterday for Maine, where he expects to recover his automobile which was stolen in this city last March. It was learned yesterday that the Lowell man's machine is in storage at Biddeford.

The car was stolen from the garage at 51 West Fifth street on March 17 and since that time the police have been endeavoring to recover the stolen machine. Sergt. Pettie was detailed on the job and he followed a clue which led him to believe the thief was located in Saco or Biddeford. Mr. The departments of those cities were asked to be on the lookout for the suspected thief with the result that the long sought for man was located at Old Orchard beach. The young man, who gave the name of Kenneth Lipps, and who said he formerly lived in this city, was arrested Saturday for the Haverhill police for the larceny of an automobile and as soon as his case is disposed of in Haverhill, he will be brought to Lowell.

Kenneth Lipps is 23 years of age, and is the son of J. E. Lipps of this city. The car alleged to have been stolen from Harry J. Roberts in Lowell last spring was brought to Ocean Park, where it was stored until May. It is the racing car that was found in York river some ten days ago, after having crashed through the railing of the bridge. The following day the car, which was driven at the time of the accident by a Biddeford young man, was brought to Biddeford and yesterday was found in the garage of Henry Brown in that city.

Another machine alleged to have been stolen in Seabrook cost $2750 and was owned by Mrs. Julia Doughty of Seabrook. The car had been stripped and the body was located by Chief Robinson at Ocean Park. A platform had been built on the running work. Lipps married a 16-year-old Biddeford girl last October. Last winter they lived, she says, with Mr. Lipps' parents in Lowell.

parents in Lowell, where he was a chauffeur for a Lowell party and seemed to be a well conducted and polite young man. She said last night that she was going back to Biddeford and get a job in the cotton mills. She says her husband's father owns a garage in Lowell.

Lipps has been working in a garage at Old Orchard until recently. He is an expert machinist.

Arraigned at Portsmouth

Kenneth Lipps, alias Everett Philipps, charged with larceny of automobiles, was brought to Portsmouth, N. H., Saturday, from Old Orchard, Me., by Sheriff Cyril Spinnery.

Yesterday George N. Durgin, son of the owner of one stolen car; Chief of Police Muck and Alderman Lloyd of Haverhill, went to Portsmouth and, accompanied by Sheriff Spinnery, went to Old Orchard. The car was found stripped but was positively identified by Mr. Durgin.

Lipps went to Portsmouth willingly, making it unnecessary to obtain extradition papers.

For the same reason trains on the Antillon railway are running at half speed.

The third floor is the size of the building—house and ell; at the front is a very large room finished in cherry, with a vestibule opening to roof porch at the front of the house, that is naturally lighted from three full sides and was originally planned for a billiard room, there are also set off by temporary partition three extensive storage rooms—part of which could be easily finished into several chambers. The basement extends under the entire house, and is divided by partition into—an excellently equipped laundry of size at the extreme southern end with a stone step entrance direct to clothes yard; also into storage rooms for the keeping of preserves, etc.; milk, etc.; work room, boiler room and coal bins, etc.; the basement is naturally lighted from four full sides.

THE STABLE—At the rear of the land at the Canton street front is the stable, the first floor of which is divided by sliding doors into two sections—the front section has four roomy stalls, broad stable floor, a harness room equipped with glass front harness case, storage drawers, set bowl, and toilet—also broad and narrow entrances from the front driveway; the rear section is provided with a wash stand workman's bench with mechanic's bench vice, open floor for three or more automobiles—also entrance from rear driveway; both sections are sheathed and painted and have a height of post of 10 ft. or more; over the front section is a high posted second story—with hay loft above; the main floors are unusually well lighted naturally from four sides, are artificially lighted by electricity, and the building is equipped for steam heating; there is a high basement (9 ft. post) with concrete floor under the entire building, the rear section of which is finished off as a work shop and provided with workman's bench, mechanic's bench vice, etc., and the front section is set off by brick partition as a stable cellar. The architecture of the stable is in keeping with the house—even to the high cut granite foundation, roof projections, slated roof, style of windows, blinds, etc., on top of all this is a cupola provided with weather vane.

THE LAND—The land has a total area of 22,433 sq. ft., a frontage of 100 ft. on Middlesex street, a frontage of 138 ft. on Canton street, the house sets back 40 ft. from Middlesex street and at least 50 ft. from Canton street, the stable is 30 ft. back from the nearest point to the house, there is a concrete driveway leading from Middlesex street under the porte cochere to the stable, a city grade driveway direct from Canton street to the stable, a second concrete driveway from Canton from leads across the extreme rear of the lot and around the stable to the basement bench, the land is much ornamented by tree, shrubbery and vine—fruit in great variety and abundance, is laid down to an even handsome and level lawn, and the two largest ornamental iron urns at the street front are included in the sale of Lot One.

NOTA BENE

The premises will be thrown open for examination and inspection after 10 a. m. the day of sale. The premises can also be inspected between two and five o'clock each afternoon by application at the door—beginning with the Saturday next preceding the day of sale. Small plans showing the division of the estate in detail may be had upon application at the office of the auctioneer.

LOTS TWO AND THREE

Lot Two and Lot Three are adjoining lots on Middlesex street immediately west of Lot One. Each has a total area of 6500 sq. ft. of land, each has a frontage of 50 ft., a depth of 130 ft., is perfectly regular in shape, is of even grade, was formerly down to the smoothest of lawns, and is either possessed of handsome and mature shade trees or thirty young fruit trees there are no more desirable lots in this vicinity than the two lots just described. An inspection of them will not prove disappointing.

LOT FOUR

Lot Four is a very attractive corner lot that has both size and mature development, a total area of 8750 sq. ft. of land, a frontage of 75 ft. on Middlesex street, a frontage of 130 ft. on Stevens street, a uniform depth of 130 ft., width at the rear of 50 ft., very little labor attention will provide a rich even surface lawn over the entire lot, upon it are more than twenty thirty young fruit trees, several shade and ornamental trees and the lot is well set off from Stevens street by hedge and shrubbery. All the preliminary expenditures, work and development, to bring this lot to maturity and the point of building upon have already been completed.

NOTA BENE

Lot One, Lot Two, Lot Three, and Lot Four are graded slightly above the level of Middlesex, Canton and Stevens streets, are separated therefrom by heavy cut granite curb—with ornamental designation posts at the driveways and walks.

LOT FIVE

Lot Five in some ways is the most attractive lot upon the premises. It has a total area of 10,852 sq. ft. of land, a frontage of 70 ft. on Stevens street—and is set off therefrom by hedge and shrubbery, extends back parallel with the southerly lines of Lots Two, Three and Four, is absolutely regular in shape, is possessed of a substantial two and one-half story building 28x20 ft.—on concrete foundation and two story annex 20x20 ft.; the larger building was originally erected with the idea that sometime it might be converted into a house, the second floor is free from partition and open to the roof, the first floor is also free from obstruction with the exception of temporary stanchions used by Mr. Fifield for his Jersey cows, beneath the whole structure is a high posted cellar with cement walls—formerly used for vegetable storage, the two story annex at the south-east corner was formerly used for deer and poultry; there are also two single story buildings—one 28x10 and the other 18x11 ft.—now partially upon or very close to the southerly boundary line of Lot Five which are to be included in the sale thereof, notice is hereby given that said buildings are reserved from the sale of Lot Six. There are two single story buildings—20x10 and 16x11 ft.—which are now either partially on Lot Five or very close to its southerly boundary line that are to be included in the sale of Lot Five and notice is hereby given that said buildings are reserved from the sale of Lot Six. The land with Lot Five is level, is at even grade with Stevens street, and it too has its fair share of shade trees—together with a few fruit trees.

LOT SIX

Lot Six has a total area of 7552 sq. ft. of land, a frontage of 85 ft. on Stevens street, an average depth of 147 ft., is supplied with a dozen or more mature fruit trees and vines, is practically at grade with Stevens street, is directly opposite Nos. 65 and 69 and is adjoined on its southerly side by No. 74 Stevens street. Stevens street is one of the most pleasant to live upon and certainly one of the most genteel residence streets in the Highland district and there is not a location upon the street that exceeds Lot Five to build upon.

LOTS SEVEN AND EIGHT

Lot Seven and Lot Eight contain 8300 and 6281 sq. ft. of land respectively, adjoin each other, are just south of Lot One on Canton street—where each has an equal frontage of 43 ft. Upon these lots are several green house structures—but in the making of the division between the two lots no attention was paid to the green houses, there are more than twenty-five full grown fruit trees upon the two lots—not to speak of a considerable amount of attractive shrubbery; upon Lot Eight there is a 70 ft. x 10 ft. in driven well that for a long time has been the mecca of the neighborhood because of its exceptionally pure and cold water—the supply from which seems absolutely inexhaustible; the lots are directly opposite No. 24 Canton street and are set off from said street by fence. That portion of the green house structure now extending over the southerly boundary line of Lot One is included in the purchase of Lot Eight—and notice is hereby given that said portion of said green house is reserved from the sale of Lot One; there have recently been erected upon Canton street several excellent and modest residences, yet the lots so used were barren in their development—when compared with all these lots offer.

NOTA BENE

The Fifield Residential Estate—herewith described in eight separate and distinct parcels—has streets on three sides of it with a combined frontage of 284 ft. on Middlesex street of 275 ft., with a combined frontage on Canton street of 176 ft., a combined frontage on Stevens street of 266 ft., has a total area of 77,643 sq. ft. of land, containing 1 3/4 acres—is adjoined on the southerly side by the residences of Mr. Frank E. Bailey and Mr. Robert G. Bartlett, perhaps has had as intelligent and thoughtful consideration in its development and creation as any of the most expensive residences in Lowell. Across Middlesex street are the three handsome residential properties of Mr. Charles F. Young, Mr. Charles A. Brown and Mr. John B. Pilling; and on the opposite corner of Middlesex and Stevens streets is the city residence of Mr. Frank E. Putnam.

A small "Square" is formed at the intersection of the two streets because of the round corner of this land—of this little "Square" the city has made and maintained a pretty bed of hedge and blooming foliage.
